Barrie mom says school put her child in a 'padded cell'

Calming room. School board says disciplinary method is no secret

A Barrie mother says log books from her son's school show he was disciplined three times by being sent to an empty, four-by-four-foot room with grey padded walls without her knowledge or permission — something that would violate school board policy.

Hayley McBride's four-year-old son, Casper, showed her the room — officially called a "calming room" — on Tuesday at Portage View Public School in Barrie, where he attends junior kindergarten.

Casper took her to an unmarked door in a corner of the school during an impromptu tour. Inside was a small padded room about the size of a custodial closet, with yellow stains on the padding. She said it was completely silent inside, with only two balls — a red one and an orange one — as toys.

"They throw me in here," Casper told his mother. The only window is on the door and Casper isn't tall enough to see out of it.

"I felt like we were in some sociology experiment," McBride said.

Neither Peter Gumbrull, Simcoe County District School Board principal of special education, nor Portage View principal Peter McKenna would comment on why Casper may have been sent to the room without his mother's knowledge.

Gumbrull said calming rooms are part of a well-accepted and successful strategy to help students de-escalate themselves before they pose a risk to themselves and others, and they can be found in about half of the board's schools.

When coming up with an individual education plan for her son, McBride heard about a calming room, but says she was told it was a room with bikes and toys for students — a much different room than the one she found Tuesday.

"I never agreed to a padded cell." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Court can't wait.
Mayor's absence causes court to adjourn early

Rob Ford stayed in Superior Court just long enough Thursday to hear his lawyer hint that the mayor might try to once again reopen the city's contract with Tuggs Inc. after the defamation trial is finished.

In the final moments of Gavin Tighe's cross-examination of George Foulidis, Tighe suggested that the restaurateur filed the $6 million lawsuit to protect his deal with the city. It's an accusation that explains Tighe's longstanding claim that the Foulidis' lawsuit was politically motivated.

"I'm going to put it to you, Mr. Foulidis, that you knew full well that one of the things that Mr. Ford said (while running for mayor in 2010) … was that his plan, if elected mayor, was to revisit the contract of Tuggs Inc.," Tighe said.

"While this litigation has been ongoing, the mayor has been unable to do anything to do with Tuggs Inc." to prevent being in a conflict of interest, he added.

Mayor missing Grey Cup

The mayor will take the witness stand at 10 a.m. Friday, the same time he was due to speak at the arrival of the Grey Cup trophy at city hall. And while the fanatic football fan might be disappointed about missing his CFL moment, Ford can find solace in the memories of his team's crushing victory the day before.

Tighe then left the possibility hanging that Ford might again go after the Tuggs contract — which councillors repeatedly threatened to do in the lead-up to the 2010 election, despite legal advice that it was likely too late — once the trial ends. Initially, Ford was to have begun his testimony Thursday afternoon, but he told court on Day 1 he would be unavailable at that time. Instead the mayor left at the morning break to be with his high school football team as they played in the Metro Bowl quarterfinal.

Court adjourned early as a result of his absence.

Dad hacks video game to make hero a heroine

Mike Hoye in his office with frame shots of one of the changes.
TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

"When all hope had died and the hour of doom seemed at hand … a young girl in forest green appeared as if from nowhere."

So proclaims the intro to the classic Nintendo game Legend of Zelda: The Wind Waker that Mike Hoye is playing with his 3-year-old daughter, Maya.

Maya, naturally, plays the hero. Only in the original version of Zelda, the hero Link is a boy, not a girl, who must save both his little sister and Princess Zelda from the bad guys.

So, the East York-based entrepreneur took a few hours and dug around the code of the game, changing the game dialogue to make Link a girl who has to rescue her little brother. Which is apt because Maya has a little brother, too.

Quoted

"I'm not having my daughter growing up thinking girls don't get to be the hero."

Mike Hoye in a blog post explaining how to duplicate his hack to other code-savvy gamers.

"In the gaming industry, women, frankly speaking, get a raw deal," Hoye said in an interview. "It seemed like a problem for Dad's favourite hobby to treat women as second-class citizens."

The long-time Legend of Zelda fan had started to play the game with Maya three weeks ago. She also immediately decided she was the hero of the game.

When Hoye read out the captions to her, he swapped the pronouns on the fly. But since Maya is starting to learn to read, he wanted to go further.

TTC unwraps city's new tricked-out streetcars

Ride the Rocket. Fully accessible, with room for twice as many riders, new vehicles will be in service in 2014

Toronto's new ride is a monster. Twice the length of the current vehicles and nearly 30 per cent longer than the articulated ALRVs, the first new TTC streetcar in 25 years is tricked out with panoramic windows, air conditioning and four-door boarding.

The sleek 30-metre-long, fully-accessible light-rail vehicles will accommodate a crush load of 251 riders standing and seated, 48 more than the ALRV. It features four flexible articulations to navigate Toronto's tight turns. There's room on board for two bikes and two wheelchairs or scooters, and Torontonians will get to know one another a little better with a new face-to-face seating plan.

The shiny red European-style streetcar unveiled at the TTC's Bathurst Street Hillcrest complex Thursday, is the first of a $1.2-billion order for 204 vehicles built by Bombardier in Thunder Bay, Ont., that will replace the aging fleet running on the existing downtown lines.

It's one of three test cars that will be put through their paces on Toronto's tight curves and steep hills over the next year before going into service in 2014. They'll probably appear first on the 510 Spadina route, though that isn't certain yet.

When that happens, the number of stops will be reduced in some locations, said TTC CEO Andy Byford. The stops will also be redesigned to accommodate deployment of the wheelchair ramps.

"It is a two-step ramp. The mobility ramp is capable of coping with either a regular curb or a raised stop location such as Spadina. One of the reasons for doing the one-year trial with this test vehicle is to make sure we've got the designs right for every location," he said.

TTC chair Karen Stintz sits in the driver's seat of one of the TTC's new streetcars that were unveiled on Thursday.
CARLOS OSORIO/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

A new "state-of-the-art" carhouse at Ashbridge's Bay will accommodate the heavy maintenance of the longer vehicles.

The province is paying $416.3 million toward the replacement streetcars.

Best qualities

Torstar News Service asked the experts what they like best about the TTC's new streetcars.

- TTC chair Karen Stintz: All-door boarding — "Just being able to not have to queue to get on and off will be such a big improvement."
- TTC CEO Andy Byford: "For the first time we are providing access to our streetcars to people with a mobility impairment. I think that's a huge step forward. But I would put that on par for the wider community, we are for the first time providing air conditioning."
- Metrolinx CEO Bruce McCuaig: Another fan of all-door boarding, he also cited the air conditioning — "People will be comfortable; it's reliable; it's going to have more capacity and allow the system to grow."
- TTC chief vehicle engineer (Rail) Stephen Lam: The panoramic view and the fact that the car will be much quieter. "This is a go-anywhere type of streetcar," he said, noting their ability to navigate hills and Toronto's tight turns.

Sex assault suspect 'bright, typical, quiet 20-year-old': Lawyer

A Ryerson University business student showed no emotion in court on Thursday as he faced charges of sexually assaulting two women in an upscale home at knifepoint.

Alaa Hejazi, 20, said no words and didn't look at sobbing family members during the five-minute court appearance.

His lawyer, Jordan Weisz, said outside court that the charges are totally at odds with his client's character.

"He has an absolutely impeccable background," Weisz said. "He's a very bright, typical, quiet 20-year-old.

"Both he and his entire family are in shock," Weisz added.

Hejazi returns to court Nov. 22, when a bail hearing is expected to be scheduled.

Police allege Hejazi posed as a newspaper salesman and forced himself into a home around Avenue Road and Lawrence Avenue West Monday morning, when the two women, aged 30 and 25, were assaulted.

Hejazi faces a series of charges which include sexual assault with a weapon and uttering death threats.

Alaa Ali Hejazi POLICE HANDOUT

Outside the courtroom, Weisz said his client has never been charged with any offence before, either as an adult or as a minor.

"He is a complete stranger to the criminal justice system," Weisz said. "I can tell you that he presents as anything but a hardened criminal."

He described his client as an academically-gifted young man who enjoys playing video games and who acts as a role model to two younger sisters.

"He's a bright kid," Weisz said.

Weisz declined to reply when repeatedly asked by reporters outside the courtroom if police had arrested the wrong man.

"I stress that these are allegations," Weisz said.

He said the charges have left Hejazi and his family in shock.

"At this point in time, my client is holding up as well as can be expected," Weisz said.

Hejazi turned himself in to police early Wednesday morning, shortly after police posted TTC security video of a suspect in the attacks.

Group-home girls need better protection, advocate says

Vulnerable youth. Meant to be safe havens, child shelters are now hot-spots for human trafficking and sexual exploitation

JESSICA SMITH
jessica.smith@metronews.ca

When Bridget Perrier was 12, an older girl at her group home convinced her to run away and turn her first trick with a man named Charlie, who liked little girls.

She and the other girls would leave the group home for a week or a month at a time, going to Charlie and his friends for money. When they came "home," workers would take away their street clothes, but they'd find others they'd stashed in the house, or would just run away in their pyjamas.

"Not once were we asked by these trained child and youth workers: 'Are you prostituting yourselves? What are you guys doing to sustain yourselves on the run?'" Perrier said. "I'm sure they knew."

Now 36, a mother and a trained social worker, Perrier says she's not sure how much has changed at the province's group homes. She's calling on the provincial government to acquire "a deep understanding" of human trafficking and prostitution, and how the sex trade involves vulnerable girls in the child welfare system.

"We just need to be aware of what is happening in these homes," she said.

This fall, two girls, aged 14 and 15, were procured into prostitution by a 16-year-old girl, who was a fellow resident at their group home outside of Toronto, police allege. They ran away, were taken to Sherbourne Street, and made to sell sex. Human trafficking and prostitution charges have been laid against four people, including the 16-year-old girl.

In 2009, a 15-year-old met her pimp on the street outside of her group home in Mississauga. She testified that he convinced her to run away and work for him by telling her that other girls in her group home had done it too. She ended up stripping, prostituting herself and paying the pimp, Carington Harris-Blake, who was found guilty on two prostitution-related charges.

"We need to take another look at what group homes are doing," said Perrier. "What are the long-term stats?"

Perrier said she wants to see new policies and procedures for group homes. For example, she thinks keeping more vulnerable children in separate homes from girls who've had a history of prostitution and abuse could help prevent children from procuring other children into prostitution.

Trish (no last name), 29, agrees. Her pimp picked her up at a group home two weeks before her 13th birthday at a Calgary youth shelter. It wasn't long before she lost her virginity to him, began working on the street for him and recruited other girls at the shelter.

"That's very, very common, because you're trying to take the pressure off yourself," she said.

Educating young girls in shelters or in care about the sex trade would help them, said Trish. "I think it's important to let the youth know about these things."

The Provincial Advocate for Children and Youth, Irwin Elman, said the ministry is expected to announce an outline for fundamental changes to the child welfare system soon. But the primary focus of the review was Crown wards' concerns about leaving care, and they didn't specially address issues like sexual exploitation, said Elman.

However, he said, the group home where the human trafficking case began this fall needs to be investigated by the ministry.

"There has to be changes, obviously, in how this group home functions. It's also a systemic issue that needs to be tackled," he said.

Former child prostitutes tell how they were lured

Bridget Perrier was procured into prostitution when she lived at a group home in Thunder Bay, Ont.

"I was in a group home — a Children's Aid-run Group home ... I was really young.

"I just happened to be around a family member who was already involved in prostitution. That impacted me because when we ran away, we ran away to an old man's house.... I was 12.

"His name was Charlie. We would run away and we would go to his house and he would have all of us girls sit around him. The more you laughed, the more money you got. When you're cold and hungry you'll do whatever it takes to make money.

Trish, now 29, was procured into prostitution from a youth shelter in Calgary at the age of 12.

"He lived a few blocks away from the shelter. He was fully aware that the shelter was what it was. So he targeted the vulnerable young women who resided in the shelter.

"It was something that I never wanted to be in. I tried to get out many times. I finally found my worth, I realized that I could be more than this."

Skating rink. Reno at Nathan Phillips goes $750,000 over budget

The cost of replacing the skating rink at Nathan Phillips Square has risen by $750,000 to $2.7 million due to "unforeseen site conditions," a council committee was told Thursday.

Coun. Doug Ford blamed the cost escalation on mismanagement while other members of the government management committee were more forgiving.

Officials discovered they needed to install a missing support wall around the concrete slab that they thought was already there because it appeared on the drawings.

"The wall was never built," said Richard Coveduck, of the city's facilities management division. "It should have been built in 1990 because it shows on the record drawings and we expected to find it."

It wasn't until work began that it was discovered the wall was missing, which has reduced the 30-year life span of the rink. "It only lasted from 1990 until now, which is only 22 years and that's not right," Coveduck said. "I can't account for the record drawing being different to the actual construction."

The problem should have been caught at the time, said Coun. Paul Ainslie, the committee's chair.

Part of the increase was due to the fact 50-year-old support cables for the concrete arches over the rink had failed, and needed to be replaced. This was found when the old concrete slab was removed.

Blame game

"These people are not magicians, they're not seers, they can't see through concrete."

Coun. Pam McConnell, saying officials shouldn't be blamed for problems that didn't become apparent until after the old rink was torn up.

Creative team brings magic of Santa Claus Parade to life

Underwater band. One exciting float will feature a half-dozen animated aquatic creatures each playing their own instrument

Priyanka Bhavsar, a Grade 3 student who was selected to be a teddy bear in Sunday's Santa Claus Parade, tries on her costume at Santa's secret warehouse earlier this month. MARCO CHOWN OVED/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Bringing the magic of the Santa Claus Parade to life is not a job, it's a calling.

The small team of float designers, builders and decorators at the Santa Claus warehouse may have come from far and wide, but they share a devotion to delight and spend all year working for a few special hours when their creations will stream through the city centre.

With only a couple of days to go until the 2012 Santa Claus Parade, the floats are almost done, lined up and ready to go. There's the gingerbread man surfing on a mountain of sugar, the giant Christmas Lego float, Old McDonald's Farm and even a replica of the Grey Cup.

"Alongside Mother Goose, you'll find rock-star Barbies," said creative director Alfred Iannarelli.

Each year new float themes are invented to keep things current, the longtime parade veteran said. But the amazement the floats provoke always stays the same.

"I always remember when I walked into the workshop 42 years ago, and just being blown away by how big it was," he said. "I still see that wonder on the faces of people who come out to see the floats on parade."

Joseph McDonald is one of the most senior float builders with the parade, having drawn, built, sanded and painted about 70 floats since he started 26 years ago.

Each float is designed and built by a single person. They can take anywhere from two to three months to complete before a decorator is brought in for the finishing touches.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

108th parade

A million expected to line route

An estimated one million people will line the parade route that snakes six kilometres through downtown, but only a lucky few will be able to ride on a float.

Two-hundred kids were selected from applications submitted in the spring, fitted with costumes and are all ready to go.

This year's parade — the 108th edition — will be the biggest outdoor entertainment event in Canada, said parade president Peter Beresford. It will feature 23 custom-made floats and 2,000 costumed volunteers.

Among them will be former Toronto Argonaut Mike (Pinball) Clemens, who will ride alongside a 14-foot-tall replica of the Grey Cup.

There will be new technology, including the Santa Cam and downloadable apps for smartphones. But there will also be nostalgic throwbacks, including an exact replica of a 1956 farm float.

Of course, Santa himself will be on hand. And as she did last year for the first time, Mrs. Claus will be there with her own float.

Train crashes into veterans' parade float, killing four

Authorities say at least four are dead and 17 others are injured after a train slammed into a parade float headed to a West Texas event honouring wounded veterans.

The crash happened at a Union Pacific railroad crossing around 4:30 p.m. Thursday. Officials say 10 of those injured are in critical condition, while the rest are stable.

The parade was supposed to end at a "Hunt for Heroes" banquet. The wounded service members were then going to be treated to a deer-hunting trip. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Number of doctors at all-time high

What's up? Docs.
Proportion of physicians rapidly outpacing population growth and is getting better in rural areas

A new report says that over the last five years, the number of doctors in Canada has increased at a rate three times faster than that of the population.

The Canadian Institute for Health Information says there were more than 72,500 physicians in 2011, a rise of 14 per cent since 2007.

The Canadian population grew 4.7 per cent over the same time period.

Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Labrador, and Quebec had the highest physician-to-population ratios, while Saskatchewan and P.E.I. had the lowest.

In 2011, 51 per cent of Canada's doctors practised family medicine, while 49 per cent were medical and surgical specialists.

The report also found that more doctors are practising in rural Canada compared to five years earlier, including 15 per cent of the country's general practitioners. THE CANADIAN PRESS

MOTIVATED TTC STAFF CRUCIAL TO DELIVERING QUALITY SERVICE

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

Our plan to transform the TTC has to be about much more than introducing shiny new vehicles or bringing in a new smart card, important though both are.

Customers rightly expect professional, friendly, informed service to be the norm from a well-trained, well-managed and motivated workforce.

I am lucky to have inherited a team of more than 12,000 people who are passionate about the TTC and what they do, but who need a strong supportive management that sets clear direction for the service we should be providing.

There will always be a few managers or staff that won't or can't step up to the new standards that we are seeking. But we should not tar everyone with the same brush — and in my strong opinion, the vast majority of TTC staff do a fantastic job day in, day out, in what can sometimes seem like a thankless task.

We are changing our management style to be more supportive, while requiring higher standards across the company. I want all TTC staff to feel motivated, challenged and valued. In return, I ask them to strive every day to do their jobs to the best of their ability. We need to re-engage the staff — not always easy during a period of top-to-bottom change.

I am confident that, over time, you will see the positive effects of this change as we all pull together to give you a transit system that makes Toronto proud.

TTC'S NEW LOW-FLOOR STREETCARS

The next generation of streetcars in Toronto will begin serving TTC customers in early 2014. However, people will begin seeing the first few test vehicles roaming the streets over the next few months.

The media was given a sneak peek Thursday at the TTC's Hillcrest Complex.

The new low-floor accessible streetcars will accommodate more customers, will have air conditioning and will feature the Presto payment system.

TTC streetcars are an icon in the City of Toronto. They enjoy a rich history of connecting communities to the downtown core through complex networks that have changed over time. In 1861, before the TTC existed, horse-drawn streetcars arrived in Toronto. Then, in 1892, the first electric vehicle hit the streets. Following the inception of the TTC in 1921, the Peter Witt streetcar was introduced, followed by the classic "PCC" or "Red Rocket" in 1938.

When not in service, streetcars are stored and maintained in specially equipped "carhouses" or "barns." Two of eight carhouses that have operated in the city are still in use, including the century-old Roncesvalles and Russell Carhouses. To accommodate the new streetcars, the TTC is building a state-of-the-art complex at Lake Shore and Leslie. The new facility, built to Toronto Green Standard, will include a storm-water management pond and a green roof. The facility is scheduled to open in 2016.

Similar to the introduction of the Toronto Rocket subway train, the TTC will run three test vehicles on Toronto streets to identify and resolve potential issues before the streetcars enter revenue service. This includes safety tests, track engineering, traction and overhead engineering, service planning, fare-card integration, and training, as well as wayside and platform interface and design.

RECYCLE

Please keep the TTC litter-free. Recycle your reading materials in any station or platform receptacle.

DID YOU KNOW?

The TTC Internet Trip Planner, available at ttc.ca, provides customers with a self-serve means of planning their transit trips using route information, timing points and walking distances. A mobile trip planner can be accessed at m.ttc.ca, mobile.ttc.ca or mymobile.ttc.ca.

SANTA CLAUS PARADE

The Santa Claus Parade is this Sunday, Nov. 18, and the TTC is the better way to get you there. For direct access to the parade route, customers can exit at Christie, Bathurst, Spadina and St George stations on the Bloor-Danforth line, or Museum, Queen's Park, St Patrick, Osgoode, St Andrew, and King stations on the Yonge-University-Spadina line.

As well, customers travelling with a family or group are encouraged to take advantage of the TTC Family/Group Day Pass. For just $10.50, a group of up to six people, maximum two adults over 19, enjoy unlimited, one day travel. Day Passes are available now at all TTC collector booths. Get yours early and avoid the line-ups.

TTC service impacts:

The 501 Queen, 504 King, 505 Dundas, 506 Carlton, and 511 Bathurst streetcar routes will be maintained over regular routing through breaks in the parade. Booze bulge. Study says Americans pack on the pounds through alcohol

Americans get too many calories from soda. But what about alcohol? It turns out adults get almost as many empty calories from booze as from soft drinks, a government study found.

Soda and other sweetened drinks — the focus of obesity-fighting public-health campaigns — are the source of about six per cent of the calories adults consume, on average. Alcoholic beverages account for about five per cent, the new study found.

"We've been focusing on sugar-sweetened beverages. This is something new," said Cynthia Ogden, one of the study's authors. She's an epidemiologist with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which released its findings Thursday.

A study has found that the average guy drinks 150 calories a day, equal to a can of Budweiser. GETTY IMAGES

The government researchers say the findings deserve attention because, like soda, alcohol contains few nutrients but plenty of calories.

The CDC study is based on interviews with more than 11,000 U.S. adults from 2007 through 2010. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tycho. Scientists say Danish astronomer didn't die from mercury

Ever since Tycho Brahe died suddenly more than 400 years ago, there has been mystery about whether the Dane whose celestial observations laid the groundwork for modern astronomy fell victim to natural causes or was murdered.

On Thursday, scientists who had exhumed his body said one thing is clear: If he was murdered, it wasn't with mercury, as many rumours had claimed.

"We measured the concentration of mercury using three different quantitative chemical methods in our labs" in the Czech Republic and Denmark, said Kaare Lund Rasmussen, associate professor of chemistry at the University of Southern Denmark.

"All tests revealed the same result: That mercury concentrations were not sufficiently high to have caused his death," he said in a statement.

Tests on the remains are still being conducted. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brazil looks to cloning to combat extinction

Threatened species. Brazilian project collecting cells from endangered animals, but initial cloning attempt is likely still years away

Brazilian researchers are turning to cloning to help fight the perilous decline of several animal species.

The scientists at Brazil's Embrapa agriculture research agency said this week they have spent two years building a gene library with hundreds of samples from eight native species, including the collared anteater, the bush dog, the black lion tamarin, the coati, and deer and bison varieties, as well as the jaguar and the maned wolf.

While still in its early stages, with the birth of a clone likely years away, the project represents Brazilian scientists' first foray into the cloning of wild animals, said team leader Carlos Frederico Martins.

Scientists in other parts of the world have been cloning threatened species for more than a decade, though with a low rate of success, and sometimes with the criticism of conservationists who say more should instead be done to save endangered animals in the wild by protecting their natural habitats.

Martins said that any clones that eventually emerge from the Brazilian project would go to zoos, not into the wild.

"The idea is not to use cloning as a primary conservation tool," Martins said in a phone interview from a farm outside the national capital, Brasilia. He stressed that clones don't resolve one of the main problems facing species with dwindling populations, which is maintaining a sufficiently varied gene pool.

"Let's be clear that cloning can't be a substitute for protecting endangered animals' habitats," Martins said. "It's a way to aid zoos, beef up their collections, particularly for animals that don't easily breed in captivity." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hour of the wolf

The project's top candidate for initial cloning is the maned wolf, a towering canine with long legs and a thick red pelt.

- Creating pups. A skin cell from the wolf would be inserted into the egg of a common dog and then implanted into another dog's uterus.
- Endangered list. With an estimated total population of 23,600, the vast majority of them in Brazil, the maned wolf is classified as "near threatened" on the ICNU Red List of Threatened Species.

An onca pintada jaguar walks in the Jardim Zoo in Brazil. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A tricky enterprise

Learning From Dolly

The cloning of animals became a reality in 1996 with the birth of the Dolly the sheep. Dolly developed a virus-induced lung disease and was euthanized at age six — about half the life expectancy of her breed — but she gave birth to four lambs. Cloning remains a difficult enterprise with a success rate of about five to seven per cent. The first reported cross-species clone, a wild ox called a gaur born in 2001, died of dysentery two days later. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brazen attacks on Tel Aviv may trigger ground invasion of Gaza

Heaviest fighting in four years. Daily life at a standstill on both sides of the border

A woman photographs Israeli soldiers on top an armoured personal carrier close to the Israel-Gaza border in southern Israel on Thursday. Israel's prime minister says the army is prepared for a "significant widening" of its operation in the Gaza Strip. Benjamin Netanyahu told reporters Israel has "made it clear" it won't tolerate continued rocket fire on its civilians. ARIEL SCHALIT/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Palestinian militants targeted densely populated Tel Aviv in Israel's heartland with rockets for the first time Thursday, part of an unprecedented barrage that threatened to provoke an Israeli ground assault on Gaza. Three Israelis were killed.

Air raid sirens wailed and panicked residents ran for cover in Tel Aviv, Israel's commercial and cultural capital. Israel responded by moving troops and heavy weapons toward Gaza and authorizing the call-up of tens of thousands of reservists.

There was no word on where the two rockets aimed at Tel Aviv landed, raising the possibility they fell into the Mediterranean. A third rocket landed in an open area on the southern outskirts of Tel Aviv. Those attacks came after Israel launched a ferocious air assault Wednesday to stop repeated rocket fire from Gaza. The powerful Hamas military chief was killed in that strike, and another 18 Palestinians have died over two days, including five children.

There were mounting signs of a ground operation. At least 12 trucks were seen transporting tanks and armoured personnel carriers toward Gaza late Thursday. Israeli TV stations said a Gaza incursion was expected on Friday, though military officials said no decision had been made.

"We will increase the attacks, and I believe we will obtain our objectives," said Lt. Gen. Benny Gantz, Israel's military chief.

Hamas, meanwhile, warned it would strike deeper inside Israel with Iranian-made Fajr-5 rockets, acknowledging for the first time it has longer-range weapons. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

International reaction

- The White House says the U.S. strongly condemns the barrage of rocket fire from Gaza into Israel. Spokesman Jay Carney says there is "no justification" for the violence perpetrated by Hamas and other terrorist organizations.
- Egypt's Islamist president Mohammed Morsi, whose party is an ally of Gaza's Hamas rulers, recalled Egypt's ambassador to Israel in protest and on Thursday ordered his prime minister to head to the tiny Palestinian territory in solidarity.
- Iran is another close ally of Hamas rulers. Foreign Ministry spokesman Ramin Mehmanparast was quoted as calling the Israeli bombardment of Gaza "organized terrorism."

FBI agent in Petraeus case has ties to Canada

Canadian connection. French education helped Humphries make the 1999 arrest of an Algerian al-Qaida member

There's now a Canadian connection to the David Petraeus sex scandal following revelations that the FBI agent who helped uncover the disgraced CIA director's extra-marital affair went to high school in Canada and played a key role in the infamous Ahmed Ressam case 13 years ago.

Frederick Humphries, one of the key players in the tawdry unravelling of Petraeus's once-storied career, set the wheels in motion for the general's downfall after he agreed last spring to investigate anonymous emails sent to a friend in Tampa, socialite Jill Kelley. That probe revealed

FBI agent Frederick Humphries KEVIN P. CASEY/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Petraeus's affair with Paula Broadwell, who was behind the harassing emails to Kelley, a woman she viewed as a rival for the four-star general's affections.

Humphries, 47, a counter-terrorism specialist at the FBI, was born in the Washington state community of Steilacoom but attended high school somewhere in Ontario. His mother and stepfather live in Illinois.

He reportedly learned French in the Canadian school system, a skill that helped him nab Ressam, who claimed to be a Montrealer in 1999 as he attempted to sneak across the Canada-U.S. border to blow up the Los Angeles airport in a thwarted millennium attack.

Ressam, an Algerian al-Qaida member who lived in Montreal, was apprehended with explosives in the trunk of his car on a Canadian ferry to the U.S. and claimed only to speak French. But while reading Ressam his rights in the language, Humphries immediately knew he was not Quebecois, detecting an Algerian accent instead. Before long, investigators discovered Ressam was using false ID and had charged him with plotting what would have been a deadly attack on one of the busiest airports in the U.S.

New leader. Xi assumes power in China amid demands for reform

Long-anointed successor Xi Jinping assumes the leadership of China at a time when the ruling Communist Party is confronting slower economic growth, a public clamour to end corruption and demands for change that threaten its hold on power.

The country's political elite named Xi to the top party post on Thursday, and unexpectedly put him in charge of the military too, after a weeklong party congress and months of divisive bargaining. The appointments give him broad authority, but not the luxury of time. After decades of juggernaut growth, China sits on the cusp of global pre-eminence as the second-largest economy and newest power, but it also has urgent domestic troubles that could frustrate its rise.

In his first address to the nation, Xi, a 59-year-old son of a revolutionary hero, acknowledged the lengthy agenda for what should be the first of two five-year terms in office. He promised to deliver better social services while making sure China stands tall in the world and the party continues to rule.

Going underground

Standards set for carbon storage

Scientists have completed work on what they are calling the world's first standards for storing carbon dioxide underground. The International Performance Assessment Centre for Geologic Storage of Carbon Dioxide and the Canadian Standards Association have been working on the guidelines since 2009. The process injects CO_2 deep into a porous rock formation to prevent the emission from things such as power plants and refineries from entering the atmosphere.

Politicking. U.S. atheists sue IRS over church groups' electioneering

A U.S. group representing atheists and agnostics has filed a federal lawsuit arguing that the Internal Revenue Service is violating the constitution by allowing tax-exempt churches and religious organizations to get involved in political campaigns.

The Freedom from Religion Foundation argues that churches and religious organizations have become more involved in political campaigns, "blatantly and deliberately flaunting the electioneering restrictions."

The lawsuit filed Wednesday in Wisconsin cites several examples, including full-page ads that ran this fall in The New York Times and other newspapers by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association that featured a photo of renowned evangelist Billy Graham urging Americans to vote along biblical principles. Graham met in October with Republican presidential challenger Mitt Romney and pledged to do "all I can" to help him. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lawsuit argues that the IRS is not enforcing the federal tax code, which prohibits tax-exempt religious organizations from electioneering.

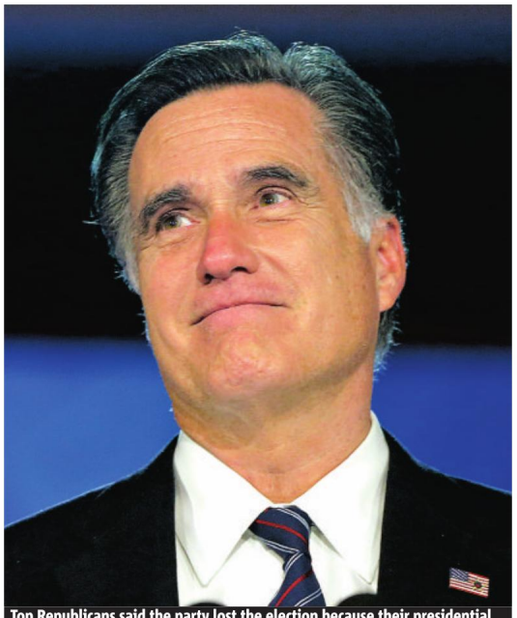
Teenage lap dance

Police investigate underage exotic dance party

Police are investigating reports that exotic dancers performed lap dances on teenagers at a boy's surprise 16th birthday party in New York state on Nov. 3. Saratoga County District Attorney James Murphy says child endangerment is among the potential charges.

Police Chief Kevin Judd says photos were given to his department capturing the party. At least one image shows a scantily-clad woman clinging upside down to a seated teen. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Romney blames Obama's win on 'gifts' to minorities



Top Republicans said the party lost the election because their presidential candidate Mitt Romney, seen delivering his concession speech at his election night rally, did not respond to criticism strongly enough or outline a specific agenda with a broad appeal. CHARLES DHARAPAK/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sore loser? Former presidential hopeful claims a superb campaign, while top Republicans point out several missteps

Former Republican presidential challenger Mitt Romney says President Barack Obama won re-election last week because of the "gifts" Obama had provided to blacks, Hispanics and young voters and because of his effort to paint Romney as anti-immigrant.

"The president's campaign ... focused on giving targeted groups a big gift," Romney said in a phone call with top donors Wednesday. He cited immigration proposals aimed at Hispanics and free contraception coverage that appealed to young women. "He made a big effort on small things."

Romney said his campaign, in contrast, had been about "big issues for the whole country."

White House press secretary Jay Carney disputed Romney's assessment Thursday, telling reporters travelling with Obama aboard Air Force One that policies allowing more young people to go to college or stay on their parents' health plans are good for all Americans and the economy as a whole.

Romney also didn't acknowledge any major missteps and said his team had run a superb campaign.

By contrast, many Republicans are questioning their strategy after Obama's strong win, with some saying they must reach out to Hispanics and others as their core demographic, aging white males, shrinks. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I think that view of the American people or the electorate and the election is at odds with the truth of what happened last week."

Obama views Sandy's devastation in N.Y.C.

Superstorm aftermath. President sees wreckage more than two weeks after the storm ripped through the region

President Barack Obama, accompanied by, from left, Sen. Charles Schumer, New York Gov. Andrew Cuomo and New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg, hugs Debbie Ingenito Thursday on Cedar Grove Avenue. The street, on New York City's Staten Island, was significantly impacted by Superstorm Sandy. CAROLYN KASTER/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. President Barack Obama vowed Thursday to stick with New Yorkers still struggling 17 days after Superstorm Sandy "until the rebuilding is complete" after getting an up-close look at devastated neighbourhoods rendered unlivable.

Obama brought the spotlight to people still living without heat or electricity, and hugged many of those trying to rebuild their lives. He also delivered a postelection message of unity, nine days after a closely divided America gave him a second term.

"We're reminded that we are bound together and we have to look out for each other," Obama said from a block in Staten Island that was demolished by the storm. "The petty differences melt away."

Obama announced that Housing and Urban Development Secretary Shaun Donovan, former chief of New York's Housing Authority, will be his point person to oversee long-term rebuilding in the region. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When do you pay the deductible on car insurance?

Learn the facts to avoid confusion.

A deductible is the amount paid by the insured before an insurance company will pay out a claim. If the repair cost in the event of an accident is $1,000 and the deductible is $500, you will pay $500 before the insurance company will cover the remaining the cost of $500. Deductibles usually apply if you have purchased collision, comprehensive or all perils coverage.

It's a common misconception that a deductible must be paid each time a driver makes a claim; But, there are cases when a deductible is not paid. Typically, this depends on the fault determination. Using a set of guidelines called the Fault Determination Rules, insurance companies assign a score to each party involved in an accident. Here are some common examples:

You are involved in an accident where you are 100% "at-fault". If determined completely at-fault, you will have to pay the deductible on your car insurance policy.

You are involved in an accident where you are not "at-fault". If the insurance companies of the parties involved determine that you are not at-fault, you do not have to pay the deductible on your car insurance policy. Your repairs will be covered under the Direct Compensation portion of your policy, which is a mandatory coverage in Ontario.

You are involved in an accident where you are partially "at-fault". If you are determined to be partially at-fault by the insurance companies involved, you would then have to pay only a percentage of the deductible. For example, if you are deemed to be 50% at-fault, you would be responsible for paying 50% of your deductible.

Your vehicle has been hit by an unidentified third party (hit & run). This depends, if you're able to identify the person who hit your car, the loss would likely be covered under the Direct Compensation portion of your insurance policy and you would not pay a deductible. If you're unable to identify the person and you do not have Collision coverage, you may not be covered for this type of loss and you would have to pay for all damages.

Your vehicle has been stolen or vandalized. The Comprehensive portion of your car insurance policy will likely cover the damages. You will, however, have to pay the full deductible. When in doubt, always be sure to ask your insurance professional.

When shopping around for car insurance, it's important to have a deductible amount that you're comfortable dishing out. Quoting sites like InsuranceHotline.com make it easy to get car insurance quotes online and your rate will be compared against over 30 insurance companies.

Winnipeg drawn into 'Earth's rectum' debate

Stephen Colbert.
Comedian says Canucks are 'ootraged' by his comments

LUKE SIMCOE
luke.simcoe@metronews.ca

Stephen Colbert says Winnipeg could be the "Earth's rectum." SCREENGRAB

No longer content to slag the city in print, Stephen Colbert has taken his disdain for Windsor to the airwaves, and this time he's drawn in Winnipeg as well.

During Wednesday's broadcast of The Colbert Report, the comedian said the "Maple stream media" had taken offence to a passage in his latest book that suggests Windsor is the Earth's rectum.

"Folks in Canada are 'ootraged,'" Colbert said.

Colbert defended his book and said he was just asking "probing" questions. He also dragged Winnipeg into the controversy. "Could the Earth's rectum be Windsor? I don't know, it could just as easily be Winnipeg," he said.

Referencing a CBC poll, Colbert said being known as "the Earth's rectum is an improvement over Windsor's previous reputation."

Colbert's comments sparked a social-media campaign aimed at getting the comedian to visit the city. A Let's Get Stephen Colbert to Windsor Facebook page was created shortly after the show ended.

But by mid-morning Thursday, the page had only 84 likes, suggesting that feelings between Rose City residents and Colbert are mutual.

One-on-one with Mansbridge

National matters.
Peter Mansbridge shares his thoughts on the media, consumers and climate change

RUTH DAVENPORT
Metro in Halifax

Veteran news anchor Peter Mansbridge was in Halifax Thursday for a live broadcast of The National.

Mansbridge has worked as a journalist for 45 years, 25 of those with the CBC anchoring the nightly newscast. He sat down with Metro to share some insights from nearly a half-century of experience.

There have been a lot of major developments on the international scene in the last few years — what's your sense, given your vast experience, of how engaged people are today?

What I've found with our audience generally is that when something big happens, they're very interested. Then as things quiet down, they're more concerned about domestic issues.

Lots is dependent on what we do in the media — we spent so much money covering the post-9-11 period and the Iraq war, and then we ran out of money. And sadly, when that happens, you pull back on international coverage because it's the most expensive, and you're giving less information, and it shows.

Of late, Syria is a hugely important story but I don't think people are going to be leaping to their television at night saying, 'Man, what's happening in Syria?' The latest escalation of violence between the Israelis and Palestinians may do that.

Where does the chicken-and-egg cycle start between what the media provides and what consumers want?

I think the cycle has gotten worse, for a number of reasons. One of them is at times a failure on our part.

Look at the example this week at how so much of the media went crazy over the (David) Petraeus story. Why did they do that? My theory is that it's a lot easier to tell the Petraeus story than it is to tell the fiscal-cliff story. Which one actually impacts your life? The fiscal cliff. So people get cynical because they look at that and say, "What's the matter with these guys?"

But when you look at programs like Entertainment Tonight, they're wildly popular. There's an appetite for scandal and "sexy" stuff.

That's true, and that's where it belongs, is programs like that. I do fault the consumer to some degree. They have to make a decision about what they're going to watch and what they're going to trust. And if they're going to demand that not only on Entertainment Tonight but also in the nightly news, they'll get what they asked for, and that's too bad.

What's the story that's the most under-reported?

I think we do a pathetic job on the climate-change story. It's changing our world, without question. It's not all bad — some things are good about climate change — but there are some things that are threatening the way we live, and other countries are miles ahead of us in adapting to climate change. We've got to get in the game.

Between poverty, overpopulation, climate change and the economy, the future's looking kind of grim. If we're going to avert the apocalypse, what would you tell both media and media consumers that we all need to do?

The common thread for both consumers and journalists is to understand an issue before you decide on it. In today's world of journalism where the pressure's on time, you've got to spend more time doing the basic journalism before going on the air. Our role is a fundamental, basic pillar of democracy, and if we do it poorly, everybody suffers. If we do it right, we end up living in a better society.

BP to pay record $4.5B over Gulf oil disaster

New Orleans. As part of settlement, firm will plead guilty on charges related to worker deaths and lying to Congress

In this April 21, 2010, file image provided by the U.S. Coast Guard, fire-boat response crews battle the blazing remnants of the offshore oil rig Deepwater Horizon in the Gulf of Mexico. U.S. COAST GUARD/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

A day of reckoning arrived for BP on Thursday as the oil giant agreed to plead guilty to a raft of criminal charges and pay a record $4.5 billion US in a settlement with the U.S. government over the deadly 2010 disaster in the Gulf of Mexico. Three BP employees were also charged, two of them with manslaughter.

The settlement and the indictments came 2 1/2 years after the drilling-rig explosion that killed 11 workers and set off the biggest offshore oil spill in U.S. history.

The settlement includes nearly $1.3 billion in fines — the biggest criminal penalty in U.S. history — along with payments to entities inside and outside government. As part of the deal, the BP will plead guilty to charges related to the deaths of the 11 workers and to lying to Congress.

"We believe this resolution is in the best interest of BP and its shareholders," said Carl-Henric Svanberg, BP chairman. "It removes two significant legal risks and allows us to vigorously defend the company against the remaining civil claims."

Also, BP rig workers Robert Kaluza and Donald Vidrine were indicted on federal charges of manslaughter and involuntary manslaughters, accused of repeatedly disregarding abnormal high-pressure readings that should have been glaring indications of trouble just before the blowout.

In addition, David Rainey, BP's vice-president of exploration for the Gulf of Mexico at the time, was indicted on charges of obstruction of Congress and making false statements.

Prosecutors said he withheld information from Congress that indicated the amount of oil spewing from the blowout well was greater than he let on. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tax break for travel in Canada would be welcome, poll finds

Canadians are prepared to embrace the idea of a tax incentive for travelling within Canada, a new poll suggests.

A private member's bill tabled in the House of Commons by Liberal MP Massimo Pacetti proposes a tax credit for air, bus or train fares on non-business trips that cross at least three provincial borders.

Some 70 per cent of respondents to a recent Canadian Press-Harris/Decima poll expressed support for the idea. Regionally, almost eight in 10 respondents in Atlantic Canada liked it, with 75 per cent of those in British Columbia and Alberta in favour.

About four of every 10 people surveyed said they would be more likely to travel within Canada if the tax break was in place, the poll found.

Pacetti's Discover Your Canada Act would allow an income-tax deduction of 100 per cent of bus fares, 75 per cent on train tickets and 50 per cent for domestic flights, up to a maximum of $2,000.

As a private member's bill, the proposal is unlikely to become law. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tipped off: Gratuities are a touchy subject

Service. Tapped out or generous, patrons and servers don't see eye-to-eye on tips

A tip is left on a table Tuesday in Montreal. Etiquette experts say tipping is a thank-you and the standard remains at 15 per cent — for exceptional service, 20 per cent is appropriate. RYAN REMIORZ/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Everybody's got their two cents' worth on tipping. "A tip is our way of saying thank you for doing a great job," says etiquette expert Margaret Page.

As soon as it becomes expected, then it's part of a person's wage or salary and it's not optional, says Page of Etiquette Page Enterprises in Vancouver.

"And that's not the intention of the tip," she adds.

Page said a 15 per cent tip is the standard for a good meal and 20 per cent for a really good meal with "exceptional" service. She said the tip is added before the tax, which of course goes to the government.

Tipping has been making headlines recently after those on the receiving end, who got nothing for their efforts, acted on their discontent.

A woman who left no tip gained Internet notoriety after spending almost $140 at a restaurant and writing: "Single mom, sorry" in the space reserved for the tip. A photo of the bill was posted on social news website Reddit by her server.

The photo of the woman's bill has gone viral and been viewed more than 600,000 times, sparking much online commentary about her behaviour.

Tipping was also in the news when a Pizza Hut employee in Des Moines, Iowa, became so upset after a woman didn't give him a tip that he allegedly pulled down his pants and urinated on her front door, a local TV station reported. The woman apparently said she didn't have the money for a tip.

Website tipthepizzaguy.com says drivers should be tipped because they bring dinner to your door. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sales drop

McDonald's replaces head of U.S. operations

McDonald's Corp. is hoping a leadership shake-up for its U.S. business will help it fight off intensifying competition.

The world's biggest hamburger chain said Thursday that Jan Fields, president of McDonald's USA, will be replaced by Jeff Stratton, its global chief restaurant officer, effective Dec. 1.

The announcement comes less than a week after the fast-food giant reported its first monthly sales drop in nearly a decade.

After years of outperforming its rivals, McDonald's has struggled recently amid increasing competition at home and a persistently weak economy abroad.

More jobs at Michigan plants

Chrysler plans to add up to 1,250 jobs at three Detroit-area factories as it prepares for a rise in pickup sales. The company said Thursday that it will invest $238 million US at engine plants in Detroit and suburban Trenton, Michigan, and add a third shift at a pickup truck factory. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

1 Justin Trudeau for king. It will probably end up as a formality, but the federal Liberal leadership race is on, so far pitting the sexy son of a legendary philosopher-visionary prime minister against somebody named Martha Hall Findlay. Gotta like them odds, Martha.

2 Old white men just like to have fun. Renowned for his strategic brilliance, Gen. David Petraeus also demonstrates that he can think with his little brain. After his affair with his biographer is revealed, Mrs. Petraeus is in shock if not awe. Now the old soldier would dearly love to fade away … or crawl back under a nice rock.

3 Navel-gazing for science. The belly buttons of 66 volunteers at a North Carolina university were examined and researchers announced they contained 2,368 bacterial species, 1,458 of which may be new to science. One belly button alone harboured 107 species. I realize I say this a lot, but I am not making this up.

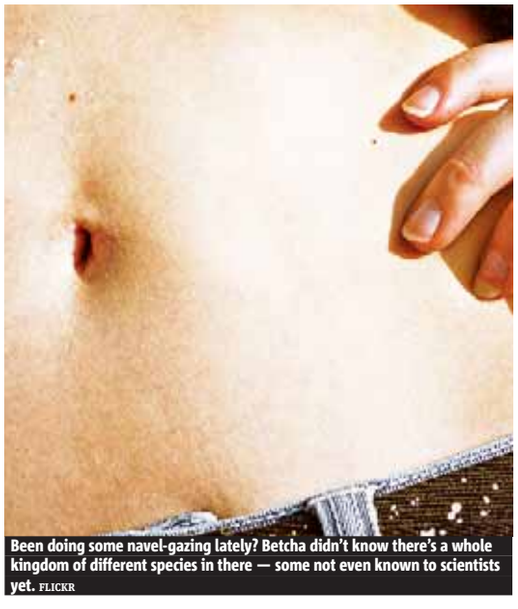
4 Why do lemmings jump over the fiscal cliff? Let me get this straight. Unless the U.S. Congress and the president come up with a new plan, a series of budgetary changes mandated to take place in the new year will plunge the world into recession? Why do I have a bad feeling about this?

5 Like THIS on Facebook. The Israeli Defense Force blows up the car carrying the head of military operations for Hamas, immediately posts the attack on YouTube, and sends the following tweet: "Ahmed Jabari: Eliminated." Geez.

6 And then there's Nik Lewis. In another inappropriate tweet, the slotback for the Calgary Stampeders issues the following bulletin: "I just bought O-J's gloves on eBay. Now all I need is a white girl named Nicole." First we had computer viruses, now we have social media disease.

7 Fifty million French persons outraged. The French government apparently feels the need to save it citizens from Nutella, that hazelnut and chocolate spread that no French person can get through the day without. The Nutella tax, as it's being called, increases the price of the oil used to make Nutella by three times. What's next? Foie gras?

8 Bieberwatch. No doubt overwrought after his breakup with Selena Gomez over the weekend, Justin Bieber was pulled over by a Hollywood cop for making an unsafe left hand turn. How about that? He's old enough to drive. It's his second violation in six months. The other one was for driving without training wheels.



Been doing some navel-gazing lately? Betcha didn't know there's a whole kingdom of different species in there — some not even known to scientists yet. FLICKR

Indian dancers set world record

Thousands of participants take part in the largest kaikottikali, a traditional Indian dance, in Mumbai — an achievement to celebrate Guinness World Records Day on Thursday.

The eighth annual event brought together more than 420,000 people worldwide, attempting to break an array of unique and amazing records. METRO

Dance in numbers

participants in the kaikottikali dance, the largest ever event of its kind and a world-first: A dance of this scale is unprecedented.

Kaikottikali is a famous group-dance performed by women in the southwest Indian state of Kerala. This spectacle has eight to 10 women dancing in a symmetrical form. The dancers move in a circular pattern, accompanied by rhythmic hand-clapping, to the tune of the ritual song Thiruvathira pattu. As they move, they bend sideways, with their arms coming together in graceful gestures.

Other records

- Most underpants worn. 266 by Australian Steve Jacobs, who beat the previous record held by himself: 247.
- Most people crammed in a Mini Cooper. 28 is the new record for most people crammed in a modern Mini in London, England. Dani Maynard and her team beat the previous record by one person cramming in for a total of five seconds.

Graceful dance, yet smashes record: The world-first mass kaikottikali dance was organized by local charity Mumbai Pooram Foundation.

STOP HAIR LOSS

for MEN and for WOMEN

#1 SELLING IN CANADA

Hair Grow Technology's Bio-Fen® product line is continually moving forward! We are introducing our two latest versions; Bio-Fen® Plus for Men and Bio-Fen® Plus for Women. These products have been assigned Natural Product Numbers (NPN's) by Health Canada.

We recognize that both men and women experience androgenic alopecia (AGA, or male / female pattern baldness) and have made some improvements to the original formulation based on the latest science to address their specific needs. You will notice that we now have additional complementary (Health Canada Approved) health claims on each product.

How does Bio-Fen® PLUS work?

We are bringing you two new products with double the number of capsules and triple the number of health claims for men and four times the number of health claims for women.

As in the previous formulation, the fenugreek seed extract in both new formulas reduces excess blood lipid levels (hyperlipidemia). Fenugreek contains β-sitosterol, an active plant sterol, which has been shown to inhibit 5-alpha-reductase activity – the enzyme responsible for converting excess testosterone to DHT(which is the primary molecule that causes hair loss). The SDG (secoisolariciresinol diglucoside) from flax lignans in both formulas also decreases excess cholesterol - the building block of testosterone. Based on new research on the rate of metabolism of SDG in flax lignans (8-12 hours on average), the dosage in both products has been revised from once a day to twice a day for optimum results.

Twice the Strength! Twice the Power!

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men:

As before, the saw palmetto extract inhibits the enzyme 5-alpha reductase, and this action slows down the conversion of testosterone to dihydrotestosterone (or DHT) – the overabundance of which causes the miniaturization of hair follicles. This activity of the saw palmetto also helps to relieve the urinary symptoms of mild to moderate BPH for men.

The saw palmetto that originally was an extract standardized to 45% free fatty acids, esters, and sterols while the new formula is a 4:1 extract to support the BPH claim. The product still contains these molecules for hair loss, but they are now at proprietary amounts based on our research so that the competition cannot duplicate our formula.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men will also help to:

- Relieve the urologic symptoms associated with mild to moderate benign prostatic hyperplasia - BPH (e.g. weak urine flow, incomplete voiding, frequent daytime and night time urination).
- Reduce elevated blood lipid levels / hyperlipidemia.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Women

The women's formula is almost the same as the men's formula. The mechanisms and results for the women formula is the same. The only difference is it contains silicon and iron instead of saw palmetto. Silicon has been shown to contribute to hair shaft strength and thus healthy hair growth. It also contains iron which helps prevent iron deficiency. A number of studies have related sub-clinical iron deficiency in women to diffuse hair loss/alopecia.

The increased amount of SDG and other revisions to the regulations allow us to make some additional health claims for Bio-Fen® Plus for Women.

Bio-Fen® Plus for Women will also help to:

- Reduce elevated blood lipid levels/hyperlipidemia
- Prevent iron deficiency.
- Metabolize carbohydrates, fats and proteins.

How long must I use Bio-Fen® Plus?

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men capsules are usually effective at stopping hair loss within the first two months. However, since healthy hair grows only about 1 cm each month, it may take up to three months before you notice that hair growth is increased or the rate of hair loss is decreased. Anyone experiencing new growth should see it within four months. In some people the original pigmentation may come back. Once you stop completely your hair growth pattern will slowly go back to the point where you started. However, some people may be able to go with a lower maintenance dose.

What is the quality of Bio-Fen® Plus for Men?

Bio-Fen® Plus for Men is manufactured in Canada according to quality assurance specifications called Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP). This ensures that the ingredients are tested for their level of quality, potency & purity, prior to production and the finished product prior to sale.

Hair Grow Technology (Bio-Fen® Plus) is a progressive company - we continually seek out the latest research on bioactive ingredients, and on regulatory updates in the natural health products industry.

Bella and Edward's immortal romance has just begun. HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Going out with a fang

Breaking Dawn - Part 2. In this Reel Guys, Liz Brown, a TwiHard, helps skeptic Richard Crouse understand the final installment

Richard: Liz, this is it… or is it just the beginning of Edward and Bella's immortal romance? I don't know. All I know is the film franchise is over and it goes out with probably the most enjoyable movie of the bunch. It's out with the angst, and in with a newfound sense of fun. The previous movies struck me as overly ponderous; this one is actually quite funny, occasionally bordering on camp. And that's OK given that the story of vampire babies and ab-tastic werewolves is rather silly. Tell me, superfan, what did you think?

Liz: Richard, the first step is admitting you have a problem — and I do. I fell for the fang when I picked up Christopher Pike's The Last Vampire series in Grade 6. Twilight brought me back to that time — daydreaming about brooding, loner vampires and wishing I had superpowers. It seems in this last installment the franchise has whole-heartedly embraced its camp. I prefer my femmes to lean towards the fatale, so it was nice to see Kristen Stewart finally stop biting her lip and show us her blood-thirsty side.

RC: I agree! Four movies of brooding Bella and Edward's ennui was enough. The sad faces and staring off into space may have captured the pain of teen love, but, if you'll excuse the pun, they also sucked some of the lifeblood from the story. The newlyweds still share eternal love, but now they're having some fun. Edward, if you watch closely, even smiles occasionally. It's a big step from the first installments and, unsurprisingly, it makes for a more fun movie.

LB: I'm sorry Richard, I'm still firmly Team Jacob, so I didn't pay Edward much heed. But I'll agree — the actors are having fun in this final hurrah. The most fun for me? Jacob's semi-nude explanation of the supernatural. Judging from the cheers in the crowd, I'm not the only one who enjoyed it. But I was a little disappointed with the action scenes. I know it's a film for tweens, but couldn't the battles have a bit more style?

RC: I thought I heard you let out a squeal when Lautner stripped down. Don't worry. I won't tell anyone. The action scenes are bloodless for the most part. The Walking Dead makes this look like Sesame Street, but I liked the steely look of determination on Dakota Fanning's face throughout. I just hope she wasn't paid by the word for her mostly mute performance.

Synopsis

It can be said that the world can be divided into two groups: Those who like the Twilight movies and those who don't get the vampire romance movies. We look at why fanpires are addicted to this undead love story.

- Richard: ●●●○○
- Liz: ●●●●○

LB: Yes, Fanning's Jane doesn't get too many lines this time out, but overall this film is less talky than the others — and that's a good thing. I'm sad to bid farewell to the Cullens, but I'm certain they'll be happy in their "perfect piece of forever." My inner tween now anxiously awaits the next adventure of Katniss Everdeen.

Actors find the silver lining in tough roles

Silver Linings Playbook. Working with David O. Russell drew out raw performances in Bradley Cooper and Jennifer Lawrence

scene@metronews.ca

Director David O. Russell is a rare breed of filmmaker whose name transcends the project it's attached to. Mark Wahlberg tried for years to get the Fighter made before Russell got on board — and just try explaining I Heart Huckabees to someone who's never seen it.

So it was with Silver Linings Playbook, the director's latest starring Bradley Cooper and Jennifer Lawrence.

"These are the kinds of films I dreamed about making as a kid," says Cooper, who cites Russell's Spanking the Monkey as a favourite of his.

Lawrence says she didn't even read the script before taking the part.

"Then I did and I was glad I said yes."

After having its world premiere at this year's Toronto International Film Festival the story of a mentally ill teacher trying to put his life back together won the fest's People's Choice Award.

What makes Russell's films so unique, says Lawrence, is his ability to make the audience sympathize with unsympathetic characters.

"He's the only filmmaker who gives audiences a choice not to like people."

Yes Russell has a reputation for being brutal with his actors.

A clip on YouTube called I Don't Heart Huckabees shows the filmmaker verbally berating actress Lily Tomlin on the set for Huckabees.

Russell explains that he likes working with actors who can figure out a scene on the spot.

Lawrence calls working with him "perfection," while Cooper says, "David has a unique ability to get people to go to their core instantaneously."

"The actors gave so much of themselves," says Russell. "We had choices in the editing room. We could have made them so much less likeable."

The rawness of their performances are on the screen. Cooper's character Pat has just been released from a court ordered mental institution and is prone to violent outbursts after moving in with his parents.

Despite a lack of social graces, Pat befriends Tiffany, a widowed sex addict played by Lawrence, who promises to get him in touch with his estranged wife.

Neither character's lives are clean says Russell. In fact they're quite messy, but both share their feelings and tell the truth.

Given the dark subject matter, that the film retains Russell's trademark black humour is a testament to the realness of the characters says Cooper.

"When that starts to happen it gets funny, it gets tragic — it gets real."

In search of fruit — filmmaker seizes chance to taste and travel

The Fruit Hunters. Documentary follows experts who traverse the globe in search of exotic edibles

scene@metronews.ca

Thus far in his career, Yung Chang is known as a director of gritty, unflinching documentaries like Up the Yangtze and China Heavyweight — movies that use individual stories to comment upon larger social realities.

But while it's possible to see his new film The Fruit Hunters — a documentary about a network of scientists, researchers and amateur experts who traverse the globe in search of exotic edibles — as a change of pace, Chang insists that in some ways the movie is business as usual.

"[As one of the characters] says in the film, every fruit is surrounded by a memory or a history," says the Montreal-based filmmaker, who traveled to Bali, Borneo, Honduras and Hollywood to shoot the film.

"We have a deeper connection with fruit than we think we do.

"That was my thesis. It's not really about fruit — it's about the cultural connection."

Chang didn't come up with the concept of the film — he was inspired by Adam Leith Gollner's 2008 best-seller of the same name.

At the same time, The Fruit Hunters is a departure from its source material.

"It's a very loose adaptation," explains Chang, "because it's a very thick book. You could make whole films out of just one of its paragraphs.

"What's the same [in the book and the movie] is the philosophy of bio-philia, the idea that the desire to return to nature is somewhere in our DNA."

With its lush location shooting and multiple close-ups of delicious-looking fruit, The Fruit Hunters is certainly Chang's most broadly appealing vision to date.

"I shot this film and China Heavyweight at the same time," he says.

"So I went from intense realism to this other world of flavour and colour and imagination."

He doesn't want the film to be written off as frivolous but he acknowledges that the production had its perks.

"It was an opportunity to travel and taste, to indulge a little bit and to have some fun."

Yung Chang had the delicious task of traipsing exotic locales and sampling delicious fruit. TORSTAR ARCHIVES

Amy Heckerling: 'Vamps' of a different colour

Manhattan blood suckers. Veteran director latest to explore vampire genre

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro World News in New York City

Edward and Bella aren't the only bloodsuckers in town. Veteran director Amy Heckerling, whose teen comedies Fast Times at Ridgemont High and Clueless have become modern classics, tried her hand at the vampire genre.

But it was never her intention to jump on a bandwagon.

"I mean, I wrote this before Twilight came out and I didn't read the books. ... That was a whole other world I'm not a big fan of," Heckerling explains. "I don't know where they live — out in the northern West Coast kind of area — I'm a city person and I wanted to feel what it would be like to just always stay young, to go to school, to have a part-time job, to have friends, to go out and do the things that I think would be fun to do endlessly."

And so we have Vamps, starring Clueless actress Alicia Silverstone and Don't Trust the B– in Apartment 23 star Krysten Ritter. The ladies play roommates who look for love in Manhattan while also trying to avoid the urge to suck the blood of their suitors.

The rules for how a vampire lives, eats and sleeps are different for each and every story told about them. But when creating her own vampire universe, Heckerling turned to the classics for inspiration.

"What I liked was in Bram Stocker's Dracula," she says. "I feel like he laid out a nice history and set of rules. But then the Anne Rice situation of 'Interview with the Vampire' — the main character did not have to kill people. For me, I think people are sympathetic if you don't kill people. It's just a quirk of mine. I went with [the idea] that they needed warm running blood from a mammal. These girls were trying to be nice and do as little harm as possible."

As for explaining why these fictional creatures have been so popular, Heckerling has a simple, sensible answer:

"I don't find it surprising in the world that where people in their 30s, 40s and 50s [who are] obsessed with extending the 20s forever would be a society that would gravitate to vampires," she says. "How can you really keep it together forever? As far as mythology goes, vampires can!"

Director Amy Heckerling attends the Cinema Society and Rachael Ray Nutrish with Grey Goose Cherry Noir screening of Darling Companion at the Tribeca Grand Screening Room in April. STEPHEN LOVEKIN/GETTY IMAGES

Comedy

A Liar's Autobiography

Director. Bill Jones, Jeff Simpson, Ben Timlett

Stars. Graham Chapman, Philip Bulcock, John Cleese

Graham Chapman was many things. A gay Cambridge graduate and physician. But it is as a founding member of Monty Python he is remembered. A Liar's Autobiography, based on Chapman's book, is a surreal portrait of the comedian that doesn't focus on the funny. We are given some insight about his coming out, alcoholism, and problems with fame, but a movie about Chapman should be a laugh riot, right? But it's not. It works best when gentle humour mixes with insight.

RICHARD CROUSE

Horror/Thriller

Citadel

Stars. Aneurin Barnard, James Cosmo, Wunmi Mosaku

Spare, scary and often nerve shredding, Ciarian Foy's minimalist U.K.-set shocker Citadel owes much in fact to David Cronenberg's 1979 film The Brood. Like that classic picture, Citadel features a "family" of diminutive mutant children in hoods who beat, bite and butcher their victims. Both films also sport troubled families as the root of their evils, and both have a single father venturing into the belly of the beast to retrieve their stolen child. Homage aside however, Foy's fright fest still stands tall on its own.

CHRIS ALEXANDER

Documentary

I Am Not A Rock Star

Director. Bobbi Jo Hart

Stars. Marika Bournaki

Marika Bournaki has been preened for musical greatness from the age of five, but if you think international acclaim comes easy for wunderkinds, think again. In this profile of a piano prodigy, filmmaker Bobbi Jo Hart follows the Montreal native between the ages of 12 and 20, revealing the young star's struggle to find herself while navigating the oft-inhospitable world of concert piano. Hart's intimate depiction of Bournaki's ambition to challenge the boundaries of classical piano gives audiences a fresh perspective on the profession.

MANORI RAVINDRAN

Drama/Sci-Fi

Holy Motors

Director. Leos Carax

Stars. Denis Lavant, Edith Scob, Eva Mendes

As a professional chameleon tooling around Paris in a white stretch limousine, Denis Lavant gives the performance of the year — or actually, eleven of them. Lavant's shape-shifting brilliance (he's an old lady, a monster, a hitman and a motion-capture-suit-clad-martial-artist) makes him a walking analog special effect, and he holds this wild, unruly, impressively ambitious movie together. A must-see.

ADAM NAYMAN

The film was a chance for the residents "to have a place to speak for yourself and be recognized.

"There were a lot of old people who watched the film and they were just hugging me and (saying), 'Thank you'."

Acclaimed Abenaki filmmaker Alanis Obomsawin on recently screening her film The People of the Kattawapiskak River: The Story of the 2011 Housing Crisis for the people of Attawapiskat. The film puts a human face on a crisis in the Cree community in Northern Ontario that most people discovered in brief images of decrepit housing on the evening newscasts or in angry exchanges in the House of Commons. The community had declared a state of emergency on Oct. 28, 2011, and in the fallout Canada received a rebuke from the United Nations.

Andre 3000 talks music and trying to humanize Hendrix

Rock star biopic. Actor and musician aimed to find the regular guy inside the legendary guitar icon

Andre 3000 filmed the Hendrix biopic in Ireland. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimi Hendrix, arguably the greatest guitarist ever, died tragically at the age of 27. HANDOUT

In order to capture his best version of Jimi Hendrix for an upcoming biopic, Andre 3000 said he had to think of him as a regular dude and not a rock star.

"I didn't look at him as an icon because when you're in it, you don't know you're an icon. You don't know you're an icon until other people say you're an icon," the 37-year-old said in an interview Tuesday.

"So I had to take it as a person, you know what I mean? And I just tried to say, 'Well, what would Jimi want people to know that they can't get off of YouTube?' And that's how I approached it," he said.

Hendrix died at age 27 in 1970. He was ranked No. 1 on Rolling Stone magazine's greatest guitarists of all-time list. His band, The Jimi Hendrix Experience, is known for iconic albums such as Electric Ladyland and Are You Experienced.

All Is by My Side, which focuses on the early days of Hendrix's career, will be released next year. Andre 3000 is excited to see the film, which he's finished shooting in Ireland. He believes the public "will be pleased."

Andre 3000, one-half of OutKast with Big Boi, has been out of the music scene in recent years, although he's been featured on songs by Beyoncé, Frank Ocean, Rick Ross, Ke$ha and Young Jeezy.

OutKast's 2006 platinum-selling album, Idlewild, which accompanied a film of the same name starring the duo, was their last album. Their 11-time platinum Speakerboxxx/The Love Below won the 2004 Grammy Award for album of the year.

Big Boi, who released a solo album two years ago to welcoming reviews, will release a new solo disc, Vicious Lies and Dangerous Rumours, next month.

But Andre 3000 isn't in a rush to record an album.

"Some days I feel like I'll do it, some days I don't. Some days I feel like I don't need to, some days I feel like I want to do it before I die. So, I don't know where to fall. I am just hoping one day I get that inspiration," he said at an event for Gillette's eMO'gency Styler Tour, which supports men's health and prostate cancer programs. The tour kicked off in New York, with stops scheduled in Chicago and Houston.

"It's a feeling for me. Like, I can't just throw out an album to be rapping," he said. "And I don't even know if it will be rap. I don't even know what it will be."

However, he could find the inspiration and complete an album in just a few days: "It could be a rush situation. Like if I feel that feeling and I record an album in three days and I'm like, 'This is what I want to say right now' – that can happen, too."

Quoted

"It's a feeling for me. I can't just throw out an album to be rapping."

Andre 3000
When asked if he is bringing out a new record.

He also says he's constantly writing songs.

"I write all the time ... I actually stopped typing it in my phone because like a cloud is basically reading every thought that I have and I don't like that," he said. "So I went back to my paper and started writing."

He's not sure fans want a new OutKast album for the right reasons.

"Man, we've had a great ride. ... Like when we got into it when we were high school kids and we just wanted to do something fun and push it, and if it's not that then why do it?" he said.

"I'm not the type that prescribes to nostalgia, and most people say they want an OutKast album because they used to love it. Y'all don't even know if y'all still love it. You just know you used to love it. But you may not like it now, who knows?"

On board with a pop star as she kicks off her promotional 777-tour

Who wants champagne?

Rihanna serves true bubbly from a golden bottle into plastic cups, handing them out left and right to fans and journalists when walking down the centre isle of the private jet that are taking us to seven cities in seven days.

The superstar and her entourage sit in business class but now she is walking past our video cameras and iPhones, a tiny figure in a black top, sun glasses and gold jewelry.

There are journalists and fans from five continents and more than 30 countries on the plane. Take off is, of course, two hours late and the scheduled press conference is cancelled. Rihanna seems to be the only one who knows what's going to happen next. And that she likes to party is no secret either.

The welcome greeting is concluded with a "Let's get drunk!"

"This is what my life looks like. You better like it!" she says to her fans on the plane before returning to business class.

Jesper Melin, a 23-year-old plumber from Stockholm, is one of the lucky fans on-board. He was snoozing when Rihanna came past his seat.

"Are you asleep, baby? Here, have some champagne," she said to him. Jesper's friend Daniel Thunell, 22-year-old tinsmith said hello to the superstar.

"It feels unreal and great. I took her hand, it was small and warm," he says. The first show in Mexico City included many hits and one new song."She has changed style completely, it is so cool," says Jesper Melin. METRO WORLD NEWS

The Touareg's TDI Clean Diesel engine block is built out of compacted graphite iron. This strengthens the engine block, while helping to reduce the overall weight of the SUV. And that goes a long way. More than 1200 kilometres per tank*. Yet another little thing that makes a Volkswagen a Volkswagen.

3 – COMMON RAIL

vw.ca

There's nothing common about our Common Rail fuel injection system. We make it ourselves – and we're the first manufacturer to do so. It injects fuel at extreme pressures, ensuring more efficient combustion. And more efficient use of your money. Yet another little thing that makes a Volkswagen a Volkswagen.

#77

Super advanced formula #77 Has been used successfully for many years KING SIZE - 2 months supply

STOP HAIR LOSS

Dr. C. Hammoud, Ph.D. recommends: To reduce or stop hair loss for men and women

■ With powerful DHT block, the recognized #1 cause of hair loss. ■ Unique combination of ingredients make it a guaranteed superior product. ■ Helps to rejuvenate your hair for a fuller and thicker appearance. ■ Early prevention of baldness for those that have a family history. ■ Pattern baldness (Androgenic Alopecia) is caused by an oversupply of hormones DHT (Dihydrotestosterone). It damages hair follicles over time unless preventive action is taken. ■ #77 feeds the roots of the hair by supplying them with the best hair nutrient ever discovered. ■ Help for people who are on radiation or chemo therapy or taking other drugs that cause hair loss. Read testimonials on the Bell website with names, phone numbers and email addresses: "My hair has stopped falling out…and my hair looks shinier and healthier."; "After 30 days use I noticed I am losing less hair! My hair now looks fuller and the texture has improved."; "Hair loss was noticeably reduced with first bottle!"; "After using Bell Stop Hair Loss #77 for 2 weeks my hair was not as thin anymore and at the end of the treatment of 2 months my little bald spot on the back of my head was growing over with little hair. This product helped to restore my youthful look."

Stem Cell Activator

Helps to activate naturally millions of stem cells from our own bone marrow. The increase in stem cells released from the bone marrow into the blood stream have the potential to become other types of tissue cells with specialized function. Stem cells will multiply and are able to become heart cells, liver cells or any other organ. Located everywhere in our body, stem cells are even under our skin layered between the epidermis and dermis. This is why an increase in stem cells under our skin may help to create a more youthful cell that would replenish elastin and collagen and thus may make us look younger. If our bone marrow does not produce enough stem cells this can result in many illnesses, especially a weak heart, kidneys, liver, pancreas, in fact all healthy functions of our body are decreased. Sufficient stem cells in our body have a great potential of self-repair and the ability to rejuvenate tissues. It does not contain live human stem cells as these can only be transplanted by surgery and are subject to immuno-suppressant drugs to avoid graft rejection. Naturopathic Doctor summarized his experience in writing after using this Stem Cell Activator: Used for all organ and tissue damage, heart attack damage, osteo-arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, traumatic brain injury, muscular dystrophy, Crohn's disease, diabetes, lupus, spinal injuries, and other diseases and tissue damage. The results have been very satisfactory to us and to the patients and the time varies with different patients depending on the extremity of the damage. Women witnessing the effects of Bell Stem Cell Activator: ■ Women looking for anti-aging help! We all want to slow down aging. After using a bottle of Bell Stem Cell Activator #63 my skin seemed smoother and brighter. My hair looked healthier. It seems to have a cleansing effect. I'm delighted. Leona McCormick, 50, Clgary, AB ■ All around healing effect! The first thing I noticed after starting Bell Stem Cell Activator #63 was that my skin feels firmer and stronger. My friends commented that my skin looks more vibrant. My doctor at my yearly physical told me that my blood pressure is significantly lower. Many good things are happening. Joy Davison, 55, Calgary, AB

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

As recommended by Dr. Gifford-Jones M. D.
Often snorers also have sleep apnea which causes being tired all day, high blood pressure, heart attacks, strokes, irregular heartbeats (per FDA website). Millions suffer needlessly and can stop their nightly ordeals.

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH ■ Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS ■ For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS ■ It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. Using Bell#23, my wife says there is no more snoring or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON.

Banks announces birth of second son

Elizabeth Banks

Elizabeth Banks and husband Max Handelman welcomed their second son recently, a baby boy named Magnus Mitchell Handelman, she announced on her website. "As 2012 winds down and Thanksgiving approaches, I have much for which to be thankful — personal, professional, and Presidential. However, nothing can match the joy and excitement my husband and I felt when we recently welcomed our second baby boy," Banks writes. "Magnus joins older brother Feliz, thus commencing a decade or more of close hand-to-hand combat." Both of Banks' children were born via gestational surrogate.

Depp arranges private concert for daughter

Johnny Depp

Being the daughter of Johnny Depp certainly has its perks.

When the Pirates of the Caribbean star learned that British boy band One Direction was in Los Angeles last week, he had them come over to his home studio to give a private concert for daughter Lily Rose's 13th birthday, according to the Sun.

"He brought out his piano and guitars for the boys to test and they had a little jam session," a source says. "Lily Rose just watched with her blushing mates while her dad temporarily joined the world's biggest boy band."

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Guy Fieri responds to scathing New York Times review

Guy Fieri is understandably upset with the New York Times' withering review of his new Times Square restaurant, Guy's American Kitchen & Bar.

"I just thought it was ridiculous," Fieri says in an interview with the Today Show.

"There's good and there's bad in the restaurant business. That one went overboard."

The review, a series of criticizing questions posed to Fieri about the restaurant, service and dishes, including, "Why did the toasted marshmallow taste like fish?" "When we hear the words Donkey Sauce, which part of the donkey are we supposed to think about?" and, "When you hung that sign by the entrance that says, WELCOME TO FLAVOR TOWN!, were you just messing with our heads?" Love is all you need

Lindsay Lohan may have pinpointed the source of all her unhappiness. According to the troubled actress, she's never found true love.

"Love is scary and I'm yet to find that one person. Yes, I've been in love with people — maybe one or two — but I haven't really had a true love yet," she tells the Daily Mirror. I love being in love. There's nothing better than that first feeling of being in love, so I look forward to having that at some point."

Poor driving lands Bieber in hot water

The bad news keeps coming for newly single Justin Bieber.

The Canadian pop star returned to L.A. and within 24 hours found himself pulled over by the sheriff's department for his poor driving skills, according to Hollyscoop. "He was cited for an unsafe left turn and expired registration," a Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department spokesman says. Bieber is due in court January 14 for the citations.

Couple sees donation results first-hand

Plan Canada's Gifts of Hope help improve lives of families in developing nations

When Leslie Ann Bent, 47, received her Chartered Accountant designation, she celebrated in a unique way. "I thought, I'll always be employable, so why don't I do something for someone else?" She sponsored three children in South and Central America through Plan Canada. "That was more than 20 years ago," says the Oakville resident.

Bent still helps the organization reach its goal to improve the lives of children and families in developing nations through Gifts of Hope. "I've been buying them since the program started," she says.

Every year, Bent browses Plan Canada's Gifts of Hope (plangifts.com), which provide necessities to those in need — such as medical care, literacy programs and clean drinking water.

Gifts of Hope can be purchased in the name of a donor's family member or friend — often in lieu of traditional holiday presents — who are then notified that the donation has been made on their behalf. "It's a win-win-win," says Jeff Cornett, vice-president of donor marketing for Plan Canada. "Donors put their holiday budget towards helping kids in the developing world, the recipient [here] loves getting a gift with meaning, and entire communities overseas benefit."

Greg Pacek

Leslie Ann Bent and Andrew Smith of Oakville browse the Gifts of Hope catalogue and chat about their 2012 trip to Ghana.

Bent herself has received Gifts of Hope. "One year, my staff got together and got me a Library in a box for Haiti [$60]," she recalls. "They knew that I'm an avid reader and Plan sponsor. It was one of the most thoughtful gifts I've ever received." Another year, Bent's parents bought her and her husband, Andrew Smith, a $75 gift of Clean water for a family. This was especially valuable because it is one of Plan Canada's matched Gifts of Hope, wherein the value of the donation is matched by Plan's generous funding partners. The Clean water for a family gift is matched for a total of $750, and will help keep many communities safe from illness or death due to unsanitary drinking water.

The program, which has given Canadians ethical alternatives to gift giving for eight years, is part of Plan Canada's 75 years of working in international development in 69 countries. Its incredible success gives Plan Canada the clout to attract partners that match public donations.

Bent and Smith witnessed the success of matched Gifts of Hope when they visited a school in Ghana. The school was funded by donors whose generosity was matched by Plan partners.

"At the ribbon-cutting for the school water well, the kids put their hands in to touch the clean water," says Bent. "The queen mother [the village female elder] was so proud and appreciative."

Bent hopes this will inspire others to give Gifts of Hope: "After all, there's such a variety of gifts at all income levels."

Gifts at any price

Long-time donor Leslie Ann Bent stresses that there's always a need for affordable gifts, which are life-changing in developing nations: $25 for a Birth certificate, for example, provides a child with an official document that opens doors to education as well as basic human rights. Girls' hygiene essentials, at $25, offers a kit containing vital supplies that girls need in time of natural disaster or political turmoil.

There's a Gift of Hope to suit any income level:

- Goat: $75
- Newborn checkup: $12
- Anti-malaria bed nets: $30
- Help build a well for a class: $175
- Build and stock a school kitchen: $500
- Primary school in Guinea: $10,000

Browse all the Gifts of Hope at plangifts.com.

Did You Know? This year, when you purchase any Gift of Hope, you'll be entered into a contest to win a chance to see Gifts of Hope in action in Tanzania. See contest details at plangifts.com.

HOLIDAY 2012 m gift guide

Game ON

Nintendo Wii U — $299.99 and up.

Best buys for the gamer on your list

MIKE YAWNEY
For Metro

Since the early '80s, video game consoles have always been big sellers around the holidays. This year is no different.

The competition between Nintendo, Sony and Microsoft continues to heat up. Here is some of the best gaming gear you can give.

Nintendo Wii U — $299.99 and up

While it looks very similar to the Wii, the Wii U is a brand new console. With beefed up hardware and intense graphical power, this will be the first Nintendo console to feature HD graphics. What really sets it apart is the new GamePad controller. As well as traditional buttons, the GamePad features a 6.2-inch touchscreen, stylus, accelerometer, gyroscope, Near-Field Technology, front facing camera and microphone. Nintendo promises to introduce new styles of gameplay never seen before. More importantly, when mom and dad want to watch TV, the Wii U console will stream the game to the screen on the GamePad so everyone remains happy. The Wii U is also backwards compatible with nearly all Wii games and controllers.

PS Vita — $249 and up

Playstation takes portable gaming to the next level with the PS Vita. This handheld console features a vibrant five-inch touchscreen display, dual analog sticks, motion sensors, stereo speakers and two cameras. Surf the web, video chat with friends or challenge them to a game online via Wi-Fi or 3G. A rear touchpad introduces unique elements of gameplay not seen on any other handheld console.

Kinect — $109.99

It's easy to dismiss video games as being just for kids, but Microsoft's Kinect for the Xbox 360 is so intuitive, even adults will have fun. The Kinect sensor uses a camera to actually put you in the game. There is no controller, just you. All your movements are shown on screen, which makes it perfect for dance or fitness games. Whether it's for fitness or fun, Kinect opens up new possibilities.

Pulse Wireless Stereo Headset: Elite Edition — $149.99

Play games late at night without waking up the family. This high-end wireless headset works exclusively with Playstation consoles. Enjoy 7.1 virtual surround sound and crystal clear voice chat thanks to the noise-cancelling microphone. These headphones can also connect to many different mobile devices with an included cable.

Gunnar Technology Eyewear — $79.99

Eye strain can become a serious problem for gamers, especially those who play on PC monitors. Gunnar glasses are designed to increase screen contrast while blocking blue light, resulting in decreased eye fatigue and dryness. Those who use them swear by them. Available in a number of different styles.

Skylanders Giants: Starter pack — $74.99

The video game that magically brings toys to life. Place Skylanders figurines onto the magic portal and watch as they come to life on your TV. Players build up their characters to unlock new powers. Figurines remember all in-game experiences so it doesn't matter if you are playing at home or at a friend's house, your character never loses its abilities once they're unlocked.

Merry minstrels hit the right note

KEITH CARMAN
For Metro

The holidays are almost upon us. While many feel the first snowfall signifies the festive season's advent, though, the more musically inclined know that the release of yuletide albums mark its true arrival.

At that, this year there are plenty of minstrels primed to make us feel quite merry.

Legendary rocker Rod Stewart issues Merry Christmas, Baby (Warner), his first-ever holiday record. An interesting affair, it offers standards (Auld Lang Syne, White Christmas), duets (We Three Kings with Mary J. Blige and What Are You Doing New Year's Eve? accompanied by Ella Fitzgerald) and oddball tracks such as Red-Suited Super Man.

Lady Antebellum has also released its first holiday-themed collection this year. Dubbed On This Winter's Night (EMI), it boasts the country trio taking on 12 favourites such as, A Holly Jolly Christmas, Let It Snow, and Silver Bells.

Not to be outdone in the genre, revered twangy vocalist Blake Shelton has also compiled his own slew of tracks. In fact, Cheers, It's Christmas (Warner) has already hit No. 1 on Billboard's Holiday Albums chart thanks to his efforts on Jingle Bell Rock and Let It Snow! Let It Snow! Let It Snow!

For a touch more upbeat fun, check out famed soul, hip-hop and R&B singer Cee Lo Green's inaugural Christmas collection. Blending original tunes with carefully-selected covers, Cee Lo's Magic Moment (Atlantic) treats us to What Christmas Means To Me, You're A Mean One, Mr. Grinch featuring Straight No Chaser and, most impressively, All I Need Is Love backed by The Muppets.

Diversity is the key behind Universal Music's Holidays Rule compilation. Endeavouring to create a mixed bag that works well as background fodder for your inevitable party, its 17 new and beloved songs are performed by artists including Rufus Wainwright, Paul McCartney, Calexico, Y la Bamba, Punch Brothers and The Shins.

Sometimes we need to hear an extraordinary set of pipes really belt it out, though. Thankfully, we've got a few true crooners who have stepped up to the mistletoe, prepared to kiss our ears with their velvety voices.

Opera star Katherine Jenkins' This is Christmas (Universal) will surely soothe the seasonal beast thanks to her silky singing. From The Christmas Song (Chestnuts Roasting On An Open Fire) through Santa Baby and Deck The Halls to Hark The Herald Angels Sing, one can bet this blonde bombshell is at her best.

Need a little more Canadian spirit in your seasonal celebration? Fear not. Michael Bublé will happily oblige with Christmas (Reprise), a bastion of 15 holiday tunes ranging from It's Beginning To Look A Lot Like Christmas to Santa Claus Is Coming To Town and I'll Be Home For Christmas. Moreover, if there is a passionate Bublé fan on your gift list, consider the limited special edition with three bonus tracks and an exclusive acrylic ornament.

Canadian crooner Michael Bublé will get you in the spirit for the holidays with his album entitled Christmas. GETTY IMAGES FILE

The hottest toys for kids

HEATHER BUCHAN
For Metro

Here's a roundup of five of the hottest kids toys as well as a few stocking stuffer ideas that are sure to raise the holiday spirits of every child on your gift list.

LeapPad2 Explorer

Based on the award-winning LeapPad1, this tablet made especially for little people (ages three to nine years old) features front and back cameras, two video recorders, 4GB of memory and a library of hundreds of learning games, eBooks, videos, music and much more. The Gameboy-like portable unit focuses on educational gaming. Comes pre-installed with a music player and a few creativity apps. $109.99. leapfrog.com

The LeapPad2 Explorer, $109.99, available at leapfrog.com.

Furby

That furry and famous kids' pal is back and better equipped for a generation of tech-savvy kids. Furby is interactive: You can feed it, speak to it, tickle it, play music for it and it will react with varying emotions. But how you treat Furby will shape its personality. Aside from capacitive sensors in its head, stomach, back and sides that react to touching, inside Furby's yellow beak is a red tongue, that, when pressed, starts Furby chewing. Available in 10 colours. $70. Ages six and older. Hasbro.ca

Lollipop Duet Stage Microphone

Little singers can belt out their favourite tunes with this rockin' stage mic. Featuring a handheld microphone with a height-adjustable stand along with a headset mic, so two kids can share the spotlight at once. The microphone can be connected to an iPod, MP3 or CD player so little singers get a real surround sound effect. Disco Lights and applause sound effects are sure to delight wannabe Canadian Idols. $39.95. Ages four and older. Mastermindtoy.com

The Art Creativity Book

Featuring games, puzzles, stencils, sticker sheets and an illustrated gatefold page for sticker decorating as well as pull-out art paper and art projects to complete, this softcover book is not only an educational tool but will provide hours of artistic fun. $14.99. Ages six and older. Mastermindtoys.com

Spy Case

This kit contains everything a little super sleuth needs to complete an investigation. Contained within the sleek black nylon case: Binoculars, a magnifying glass, fingerprint powder, brush, flashlight, secret marker pen set, and a spy guide. $24.95. Ages six and older. Chapters.indigo.ca/toys

Liquid Assets

A wine and pizza union

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

It doesn't matter how you slice it: Canadians love their pizza. Fresh or frozen, baked in a wood-fired brick oven or from a neighbourhood take-out joint, the way we devour it almost makes you think that Italians discovered the Great White North.

While my quest for that perfect mix of dough, sauce and toppings has taken me everywhere from Naples, Italy to Sydney, Australia, I've discovered that the hunt for the perfect pie really begins at home.

Making a pizzeria style version in your own kitchen isn't rocket science — especially when you keep things simple like a Pizza Margherita: The classic Napoli pie that, with its combo of tomato, mozzarella and basil, was designed to mirror the Italian flag.

As a general rule, your average pizza is pretty vino friendly. Without meaty influences, a lighter, leaner red makes the ideal quaffable match. Bolla's 2011 Valpolicella Classico ($11.95 - $15.50) is a perennial by-the-glasser at in-the-know pizza parlours. Its soft, fruity blend of cherry and subtle spice makes as happy a marriage with a Margherita-style pizza as it does with a mainstream. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Master Italian with the Cake Boss

New cookbook. The TLC star shares 100 of his favourite recipes

life@metronews.ca

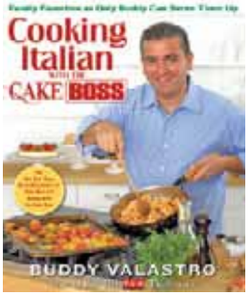
Sundays at Buddy Valastro's house are ruled by three f-words: food, family and football.

It's a day for the star of TLC's hit show Cake Boss to throw on his New York Giants jersey and munch on game snacks (wine, bread and prosciutto, in case you're wondering) while his wife, Lisa, whips up Sunday Gravy (a.k.a. tomato sauce).

But the man behind Carlo's Bakery also knows his way around the kitchen — so much so that he has released Cooking Italian with the Cake Boss: Family Favorites As Only Buddy Can Serve Them Up.

The 100-recipe book features Italian-American dishes with signature touches that may just expand Valastro's boss reputation to boiling pots of potato gnocchi and simmering dishes of lasagna.

The book is dedicated to your wife. Who is really the boss in your kitchen?



Buddy Valastro has released a new Italian cookbook. SUBMITTED

I gotta give it up to my wife, she is definitely the boss of cooking in my house. She does 90 per cent of it. I really wanted to dedicate a book to her and I'm so happy it's this one because a lot of the recipes are hers, so I feel like I didn't just steal from her.

I have to pit you against your mom and your wife, and ask, who is the best cook?

Oh, I'm definitely the best cook out of the three. They won't even try to deny it. My food has a lot more flavour profile to it. I attribute that to having a really unique palate. When I'm at a restaurant and I eat something, I can pick apart what's in it. Then I can go home and recreate it.

Is there anything you haven't mastered in Italian cooking?

I don't consider myself a master. I think that I'm a really good cook. I'm not intimidated to try anything. At the end of the day, nothing brings families together like food, but sometimes people get in a rut. Take my wife, God bless her, great cook … but she makes the same stuff every week. So I want the book to make people think, 'You know what? Instead of making plain veal cutlets, I'm gonna make Veal Saltimbocca. Let me try something new'.

Speaking of family, we've seen you cook with your family on Kitchen Boss, who is your favourite person to cook with?

All my sisters and me cook great together so I would pick any of them. Probably my least favourite is Grace. She just really don't know how to cook (laughs). I remember, one time I was at her house and she was like, 'Buddy, you make this pasta so good, why don't you just make it?' I'm asking her where things are, and she's like, 'I don't have it'. I'm like, 'No wonder your food tastes like crap. You don't have anything!'

Aside from Italian, what else do you like to cook?

Oh, I cook everything. My favourite is probably Asian.

Are we going to get a Cooking Chinese with Buddy book?

I don't know about cooking Chinese, but Buddy can make some damn good fried rice.

What advice do you have for the people who want to make this Pizza Margherita recipe?

Get a good pizza stone and crank your oven. The trick to pizza is the oven being hot, so get the oven up to 500 degrees, have the door closed, get the pizza right in, close the door quickly, and get it nice and crispy.

Buddy's Pizza Margherita

1. Position rack in bottom of oven and set pizza stone on rack. Preheat to 450 to 500 F.

2. Lightly work surface and a pizza peel with cornmeal. Pat and stretch or roll out the dough to a 9- to 10-inch round. In one swift movement, lift the dough by one edge and drag it onto peel.

3. Use ladle to spoon sauce into centre of dough, then use back of ladle to spread it, leaving 1/2-inch border. Scatter mozzarella decoratively over pizza.

4. Open oven and carefully slide pizza onto stone. Bake until crust is golden brown and cheese bubbles, 10 to 12 minutes. Remove pizza with peel. Scatter basil over pizza, season with pinch of salt, and drizzle with extra-virgin olive oil.

5. Transfer pizza to a serving platter. Slice into 6 slices, and serve. ADAPTED FROM COOKING ITALIAN WITH THE CAKE BOSS BY BUDDY VALASTRO (SIMON & SCHUSTER, 2012)

Ingredients

- Cornmeal, for dusting your work surface and pizza peel
- 1/3 Pizza Dough recipe (page 95) or store-bought pie
- 1/4 cup Pizza Sauce (page 97) or store-bought
- 4 oz fresh mozzarella, sliced into 1/4 -inch-thick rounds and drained on paper towels
- 6 leaves fresh basil
- Kosher salt
- Extra-virgin olive oil, for serving

9 – LASER SEAM WELDING vw.ca

A vehicle's body is only as strong as what holds it together. That's why we use laser seam welds. They form a longer continuous bond, and create a larger area for load transfer between parts – which makes for a safer and more durable vehicle. Yet another little thing that makes a Volkswagen a Volkswagen.

Thai fare gets the slow-cooker treatment

Cooking this Thai Red Curry Chicken in a slow cooker really brings out the flavours.

This recipe serves four. NEWS CANADA

Ingredients

- 1 tbsp Blue Dragon Thai Red Curry Paste
- 2 lbs skinless, boneless chicken thighs, well trimmed and cut into 1-inch/2.5 cm pieces
- 1 Japanese eggplant, cut into quarters lengthwise, then cut into 1-inch/2.5 cm cubes
- 1 medium red bell pepper, cut into thin strips
- 1 can (400 ml) Blue Dragon Coconut Milk
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh cilantro
- 1 tbsp chopped fresh Thai basil leaves
- Steamed Basmati rice
- Lime wedges

1. Place chicken pieces and red curry paste in slow cooker; stir until combined.

2. Cover and cook on high for 2 and a half to 3 hours or on low for 5 to 6 hours or until juices run clear when chicken is pierced with a fork.

3. Stir in eggplant, red pepper strips and coconut milk. Cover and cook for another 20 minutes or until peppers are tender and heated through. Stir in cilantro and basil. Serve over hot steamed rice and garnish with lime wedge.

Just Opened: UNIUN

Nightlife heavyweight Charles Khabouth and his company bring us yet another reason to go out dancing on the weekends. Uniun Nightclub recently opened up in the spot left in the wake of Devil's Martini's closure (at 473 Adelaide St. W.). Be sure to check Uniun out on Facebook to find out how to get door bypass tickets, see who's on the docket and so much more.

Just Opened: Santouka

Well ... in case you were wondering ... it is true. The city has officially been taken over by ramen fever. Case in point: the opening of Santouka Hokkaido Ramen at 91 Dundas St. E. At a corner of town known for little more than nighttime shadiness, Santouka hopes to brighten up the area with bowls of broth, noodles, and other Japanese delights.

Re-Opened: College Street Bar

It's funny what a coat of paint, a menu crafted by a well-known exec chef, and two set price points — $5 for the food, $9 for the cocktails — will do for a joint. The recently revamped College Street Bar (574 College St.) was given a bit of facelift before Chef David Adjey was called in to design the recipes for the shareable menu. The cocktails are prepared by Gavin MacMillan.

Just Opened: Two Bite Saloon

Two bites is all you'll need to finish most of the dishes on the menu at this small saloon-style restaurant. Two Bite Saloon — found at 840 Bloor St. W. — is serving up mini takes on favourite Southern BBQ style meals like ribs, wild catfish, poutine, pulled pork and more. Many of which come in two-bite, slider form.

Just Opened: Slider Revolution

Over on the Danforth, we have another new entry to the small bite restaurant scene. (Very coincidental the timing, non?) Slider Revolution just opened its doors at 673 Danforth Ave., offering a more casual, grab-and-go style slider diner. From meatballs to pulled pork and even sloppy joes, Slider Revolution's got 'em all.

Just Opened: Mr. Pong's Bar

A collaboration of some notable hospitality names in the city — namely, the folk behind Cold Tea in Kensington — Mr. Pong's Bar is a new watering hole/gourmet egg roll joint (yes, you read that right) in Little Portugal at 1576 Dundas St. W. Featuring a surprisingly simple drinks menu, Mr. Pong's Bar is more of a neighbourhood local ... but the vibe is fine.

Selig reviewing Jays, Marlins deal

Bud Selig was on hand when the Miami Marlins played their first regular-season game in their swanky new ballpark in April. The commissioner provided a glowing review of the $634-million US project and boldly declared that opposition to the facility would fade away within five years.

So far, it's not looking so good for that last prediction.

Selig said Thursday he is examining the pending blockbuster trade that sends at least three of Miami's best players to Toronto for a package of prospects just seven months after the Marlins moved into their new home, which was financed primarily with tax money.

Speaking at the conclusion of the owners' meetings, Selig said he also is aware of fan anger in South Florida but is going to do what's in the best interests of the sport.

"It is under review. I am aware of the anger, I am. I'm also aware that in Toronto they're very happy."

The Blue Jays, who finished fourth in the loaded AL East last season, are bringing in all-star shortstop Jose Reyes, left-hander Mark Buehrle and right-hander Josh Johnson under the deal, which is contingent on physicals for the players. Selig also said there is money going from Miami to Toronto, but did not offer any details and said the trade hadn't been officially presented to his office yet.

The Marlins get infielders Yunel Escobar and Adeiny Hechavarria, right-hander Henderson Alvarez, and several top prospects.

Als intent on trapping Ricky 'Houdini' Ray

CFL. Argos QB faces Als' Calvillo for fourth time in playoffs

Quoted

"Ricky and Anthony are similar in they don't change their routines. It's the only way you can become a great quarterback week in and week out."

Argos coach Scott Milanovich, who ran the offence for Calvillo for four years before joining Toronto this season.

In his view, Montreal Alouettes coach Mark Trestman says Toronto Argonauts quarterback Ricky Ray is an "ice man" with "Houdini" qualities.

Ray, 33, kind of gets what Trestman means about him being an "ice man" but the pocket passer can't figure out the "Houdini" reference, though he understands why Trestman said those things about him this week.

"He wants his team to focus on me. He's just trying to get them prepared and motivated," Ray said after practice at the Rogers Centre, where the Argos have been preparing for Sunday's Eastern final in Montreal at Olympic Stadium.

"As for being the ice man, well, I try to be calm and cool and play within myself and do all the things that I need to do to win. But I don't know about that Houdini thing. I'm not much of a magician or an escape artist. That's not my big forte, escaping and getting out (of the pocket) to make big plays."

Regardless, it's a good bet that whichever team wins Sunday en route to an appearance in the Grey Cup on Nov. 25 in Toronto, either Ray or Alouettes quarterback Anthony Calvillo will have a lot to do with the outcome.

The two stars have faced each other three times in big games, all three times in the Grey Cup with the Toronto passer having a 2-1 edge while then playing for the Edmonton Eskimos, including a double-overtime win in 2005 in Regina.

This season, Montreal beat Toronto two out of three times but Ray won the only game he played the full 60 minutes, a 23-20 victory in July in Montreal at McGill stadium.

He strained his left knee in the second game in September early in the first quarter of a game Toronto would lose 31-10. He didn't play in the Argos' 24-12 loss at the Rogers Centre in October.

Since he returned from his injury, Ray has been hot, throwing 10 TDs and passing for nearly 900 yards in three games, the kind of stats not lost on Trestman.

"He's like Houdini with the ball. He's unflappable in the pocket, takes hits and comes back for more," Trestman said this week. "He's an ice man."

Injury bug has bitten Raptors hard

Toronto Raptors guard Kyle Lowry reacts at the referee while playing on Oct. 31 in Toronto. Lowry is expected to be sidelined for another one to two weeks. NATHAN DENETTE/THE CANADIAN PRESS

The picture is not pretty but at least it's now clear for the Raptors.

Kyle Lowry will miss another week or two with a bruised cuboid in his ankle, Alan Anderson will be sidelined three to six weeks with a partially torn plantar fascia in his foot and Landry Fields will be out indefinitely after he had surgery to move a nerve near his left elbow.

It is far from the best medical news the 2-6 team could have received but at least there are far fewer questions to ask today.

"Our rotation is not going to look like a normal rotation by no means ever, but the NBA season goes on," coach Dwane Casey said Thursday

"This is an opportunity for guys who weren't getting big minutes to come out and have an opportunity to play and produce."

Dominic McGuire, who missed Thursday's practice to attend to a family matter, is likely to remain in the starting lineup. There will be an increased role for rookie swingman Terrence Ross. Veteran Linas Kleiza will also see more responsibility.

Lowry, who left practice in a walking boot to get treatment, will have missed almost three weeks if he comes back in the timetable set out Thursday.

The Raptors will continue to ride veteran Jose Calderon but asking him to log consistently long minutes may be counterproductive, sending Casey looking for unorthodox solutions.

"I'm not advocating that DeMar (DeRozan) is going to play 48 minutes of point guard, but he's going to have come down and tread water and get us in our offence if they try to take Jose out of it," said the coach.

The most serious injury is to Fields, who said he felt involuntary "twitches" in his right hand every tine he took a shot this season. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

East final

Toronto at Montreal, Sunday, 1 p.m. (TSN)
Here's something the Toronto Argos don't face every day — crowd noise, and lots of it. The more than 40,000 rabid Alouettes fans at Olympic Stadium for Sunday's East final will be harassing the Argos in both official languages, rattling the Big O's creaky rafters and making things difficult for Argos quarterback Ricky Ray and the Double Blue offence.

The Argos have survived and, in fact, thrived in similar noisy atmospheres this season. Toronto escaped Hamilton's ear-piercing Ivor Wynne Stadium with a win on Labour Day. The Argos also emerged from rowdy Taylor Field in Regina to secure a win and second place in the East and their first home playoff game since 2007.

To prepare for Sunday's Thunderdome experience, the Argos have been practising with noise piped into the Rogers Centre in anticipation of the real thing on Sunday.

Season series: Toronto slipped past the Als 23-20 in Week 5, with Ricky Ray throwing two TD passes. Montreal trounced the Argos 31-10 in Week 13 when Ray left the game early with a knee injury, while also beating the Argos 24-12 in Week 16.

Pick: Toronto by 3.

West final

Calgary at B.C., Sunday, 4:30 p.m. (TSN)
They were worried about his forehead just a couple of days ago, and now Drew Tate's forearm is causing headaches in Calgary.

The Stampeders quarterback is out for the rest of the season with a fractured right forearm, giving way to Kevin Glenn in Sunday's West final in Vancouver.

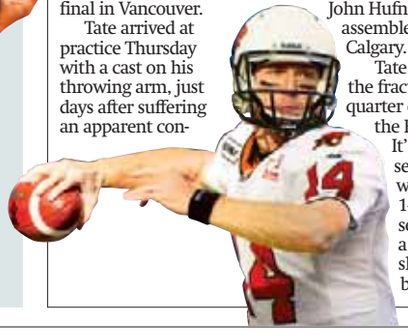
Tate arrived at practice Thursday with a cast on his throwing arm, just days after suffering an apparent concussion in the Stamps' 36-30 West semifinal win over Saskatchewan. Although Tate's head received a clean bill of health, he underwent an MRI and CAT scan Tuesday when the small fracture was discovered in his throwing arm, sidelining him for the biggest game of the year.

"We won 10 out of the last 12. Kevin started eight of those wins, so we'll just move on," Stampeders coach John Hufnagel told the assembled media in Calgary.

Tate said he suffered the fracture in the third quarter of the win over the Roughriders. It's a frustrating setback for Tate, who missed 14 games this season with a dislocated shoulder after being tackled in Week 2. Glenn led the Stamps offence during Tate's absence, directing Calgary to a second-place finish in the West.

Season series: The Lions thumped the Stamps 34-8 in Week 5 in Calgary, and followed that win with a slim 27-22 victory in Vancouver in Week 15. The Stamps answered in Week 18 with 34 unanswered points in a 41-21 win in Calgary.

Pick: B.C. by 2.



St-Pierre leaves his home to find his comfort zone

UFC. Fight in Montreal is the welterweight champion's first since April last year

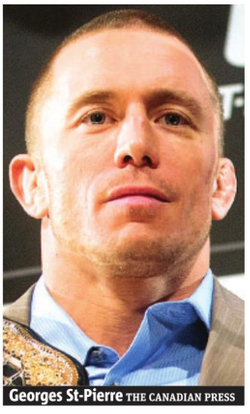
Georges St-Pierre may be fighting at home this weekend, but he's not sleeping in his own bed.

The UFC welterweight champion has moved into a hotel, leaving the comforts of home ahead of Saturday night's UFC 154 main event with interim title-holder Carlos (Natural Born Killer) Condit at the Bell Centre.

He wants no part of the hometown feeling, other than to have friends and family in the stands.

"I want to feel like it's another fight, like normal," he said.

The move has cut into his privacy. Fans in the lobby have pretty much restricted his ability to leave his hotel room. But that plays into another priority ahead of the fight.



Georges St-Pierre THE CANADIAN PRESS

"At this time, I try to isolate myself, not get sick — not catch any cold or stuff like that. Stay very focused on the main goal," St-Pierre told reporters.

The fight is the first for St-Pierre (22-2) since April 2011 when he beat Jake Shields. He underwent reconstructive surgery after injuring his knee in training last fall.

Condit (28-5) defeated Nick Diaz in February to claim the interim title during St-Pierre's injury layoff.

After Friday's weigh-in, when he has to make 170 pounds, St-Pierre's immediate plan is to "eat and drink." Ice cream is high on his priority list.

"Even if I were to do 100 push-ups, I'm not going to get any stronger," he said. "So it's all in the mind. My training is done."

6 – HUMIDITY SENSOR

vw.ca

Humidity Sensor G355 has an enemy, and its name is foggy windows. When the G355 recognizes high humidity and low windshield temperature (the optimal conditions for water to condense on a window), it automatically initiates defogging measures, helping to defeat fog before it turns into a monster. Yet another little thing that makes a Volkswagen a Volkswagen.

As labour talks stall, more NHL games facing the axe

Season in peril. With hopes for a new CBA dashed again, hockey execs warn of more scheduling carnage

Pessimism is growing around the NHL's stalled collective bargaining talks.

With no future negotiations scheduled, the league is getting close to another round of game cancellations that will further shorten any potential season. Asked on Thursday if the labour dispute had yet put the entire year in jeopardy, deputy commissioner Bill Daly replied: "I hope not."

The NHL is expected to start wiping games beyond Nov. 30 off the schedule early next week. There had previously been hope for a shortened 68-game season starting Dec. 1, but that now appears to be gone.

In total, the lockout has already forced the cancellation of 327 games, including the Winter Classic between the Maple Leafs and Red Wings at Michigan Stadium. The league's other big mid-season event — the Jan. 27 all-star game at Nationwide Arena in Columbus — is also expected to be formally cancelled in the near future.

Talks between the NHL and NHL Players' Association have fallen silent one week after representatives from both sides met over six consecutive days in New York. They broke off after last Friday's bargaining session ended with a heated exchange and a meeting on Sunday afternoon lasted barely more than an hour.

Earlier this week, NHLPA special counsel Steve Fehr indicated that he thought a new CBA could be completed quickly once a breakthrough was made in negotiations.

It doesn't appear to be forthcoming. Fehr acknowledged that the union and league remained split on three major issues: The division of money, player-contract rights and who pays for the damage caused by the lockout. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Former Bruin Stan Jonathan charged in hunting accident

Former Boston Bruins forward Stan Jonathan has been charged with criminal negligence causing death after a hunting accident on the weekend left a Hamilton man dead.

Peter Kosid was shot and killed on Sunday while crossbow hunting for deer on a friend's property on a Six Nations Reserve near Brantford, about 100 kilometres west of Toronto.

Six Nations Police said a deer hunter fired from the roadway into the bushline area. The bullet struck Kosid, who was wearing camouflage, from about 375 metres away.

Police said Jonathan and Kosid were not known to each other and were not hunting together. Jonathan, a prominent member of the Six Nations band, was released after a bail hearing Wednesday. Details of the hearing cannot be revealed due to a publication ban.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
The more someone tries to blackmail you emotionally, the more you must resist. If you give in to them once, you will be expected to give in again and again. Don't let them intimidate you, today or any other day.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
This will be a hectic day, the kind when you always seem to be playing catch-up. But you will reach your goal in the end, so keep going. One of the strengths of your sign is your stubbornness — you refuse to be beaten.

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
There is a time to be secretive and a time to be open and this is definitely one of the latter. If you share a problem today it, won't be a problem for long. If you keep it to yourself though, you may never resolve it.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
If you go to extremes, the consequences could be painful. Saturn in Scorpio warns that where both creative endeavors and affairs of the heart are concerned, you should stay on the straight and narrow.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
If you don't want to get involved in what others are planning, you must let them know immediately. If you keep quiet, they will take that as a sign that you approve and soon you won't be able to back out.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
If you want something, you will have to go out and get it for yourself. You cannot trust other people to bring it to your door, even if they promised to do so. And if they won't help, why should you share?

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
If someone in a position of authority gives you a hard time for no good reason today, the best thing to do is take it. The planets warn that they want you to respond so they can escalate the situation.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
Some people like to boast about what they are going to do. You prefer to say nothing and just get on and do it. The less noise you make about your plans today, the more likely it is they will succeed.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
Whatever odds you face today, either at work or in your personal affairs, you must not be intimidated. Fortunately you are a very good actor: You may be scared on the inside but on the outside you appear utterly fearless.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
You will meet someone today whose attitude and beliefs are about as different to yours as is possible. They say opposites attract and it is quite likely that the pair of you will form a long-lasting bond.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
You may be tempted to double up on your workload and get everything finished as quickly as possible but is that really such a good idea? Quality work is always preferable to quantity, so take your time.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
Set your sights high then go even higher. There is little, if anything, that is beyond your reach at the moment, so don't put up with average. Strive to be the biggest and the best at what you are good at.
